Will 'Huff' Puff Down Adam's House?

Mysterious Firm Adds Intrigue To Powell Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Huff Enterprises Ltd., a Bahamian corporation which does business from Adam Clayton Powell's office, has added a touch of mystery to the House investigation of the unseated Harlem congressman.

With only eight days left until it must report to the House whether Powell is entitled to take his seat, the select investigating committee is trying to decipher the purpose and activities of the firm.

Its president is Powell's 25-year-old secretary, Corrine A. Huff.

Asked if the committee knew what Huff Enterprises does, associate counsel Robert P. Patterson Jr. told a reporter: "No, sir."

Other major unfinished business before the committee is the scheduled appearance Thursday of Powell's estranged third wife, Y. Marjorie Flores Powell. She is supposed to fly here from Puerto Rico today. Her appearance is expected to be in a closed session.

Two other women subpoenaed by the committee, Miss Huff and former Powell receptionist Emma T. Swann, have not appeared. Miss Huff received a subpoena on Bimini last Saturday but did not answer when called Tuesday. Miss Swann has not yet been located.

Both Miss Huff and Mrs. Swann reportedly are stockholders in Huff Enterprises, as are former Powell aides C. Sumner Stone and Odell Clark, and the new prime minister of the Bahamas, Lynden O. Pindling.

But Stone, who said he is the corporation's vice president and was present when it was incorporated, called it a "paper organization" which never has done anything. He said Pindling, a Nassau attorney before becoming prime minister, was a friend of Powell's.

The proprietor of a flying service between Miami and Bimini testified Tuesday that he was instructed by Miss Huff to send bills for material shipped to Bimini for Powell's yacht to Huff Enterprises Ltd., 2161 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington.

That is the address of Powell's congressional office. Gene Franklin, who said he owns Chalk's Airline Service, testified he billed some of the groceries, fish bait and other cargo carried to Bimini, to Powell and the rest to Huff Enterprises.

Asked if Powell paid the bills sent to him, Franklin replied: "I believe they were paid by check on Huff Enterprises. I don't believe Mr. Powell has ever paid any personally."

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell's estranged third wife flew to the United States today from Puerto Rico and said she would cooperate with the House investigation of her husband.

"I think it's my duty," Y. Marjorie Flores Powell told reporters after landing in Miami for a stopover before going to Washington.

Wearing a red knit dress and a black fur coat, she said she had not seen her husband for more than a year.

Asked if she knew Corrine A. Huff, Powell's 25-year-old former beauty queen secretary, Mrs. Powell said:

"I don't want to talk about her."

STUDENTS WRITE SPY THRILLER IN RECORD TIME — Setting a college record, student editors Dennis Berrett (left) and Jaron Summers complete their spy-chiller novel, "The Mind Game," in 50 hours and 57 minutes at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. Coed Undressed: They Ask For Redress of Grievances

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — University of Florida students staged an orderly all-night sleep-in at the administration building over a warning given nude-posing coed Pamela Brewer and today drafted a list of demands for authorities.

One demand: the university should acknowledge the right of the students to redress of grievances.

The students, some with sleeping bags, made a dormitory of the university's Tiger Hall where Miss Brewer was given probation Tuesday for posing nude in an off-campus magazine.

Dawn found the protesting group of about 130 organizing to clean floors of cigarette butts and other debris and to appoint a "vigil committee" to stay in the building.

Their list of demands matched the views of speakers at a rally held while the university pondered its decision against Miss Brewer. Speakers called for changes in discipline procedures, including an elected discipline committee made up of half students and half faculty. The present committee, which is appointive, has eight faculty members and two students.

One sign held aloft at the rally proclaimed, "Nude power."

The students also called on the university for "continuous dialogue" between the administration and the students. It asked for immunity from discipline for students who took part in the all-night demonstration.

Plans were announced for a "teach-in" later today. Students and faculty will get a chance to speak their minds at an outdoor rally.

The students invaded the building in support of a demand that a university spokesman discuss with them the university's discipline setup and a student conduct code which they contend is vague.

Under the code, 18-year-old Miss Brewer was found guilty by the faculty discipline committee of "inappropriate and indiscreet conduct."

The Springfield, Va., sophomore's lawyer, Selig Goldin, said there was nothing specific in the code to prohibit Pamela from posing for the photo.

Golding described as mild his client's penalty-two terms of disciplinary probation. He said it means she may remain in school without restrictions as long as she does not get in trouble.

A university official who asked not to be identified told newsmen the discipline committee's action amounts to a little more than warning.

Orbiter 3 Pictures Are Excellent

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter 3 snapped its first pictures of astronaut landing sites on the moon today and a few hours later spokesmen said they were of "excellent quality."

The word came from a tracking station at Madrid, Spain, and was relayed to National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials at Jet Propulsion Laboratory here, who are controlling the flight of the 850-pound spacecraft.

The pictures were received at Madrid at 7 a. m.

Another batch of pictures was to be radioed to a tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., later in the day.

Spokesmen said the first prints from Orbiter 3 may be released at 5:30 p. m. EST today.

The area photographed early today was surveyed by Lunar Orbiters 1 and 2 last year. Comparison of the photographs is expected to allow scientists to pick the safest astronaut landing sites.

Boy's Body Found In Chagrin River

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP) — The body of 5-year-old Joseph Klunder Jr. was recovered from the Chagrin River today.

The boy drowned Monday when he broke through ice on the river about 200 feet behind the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sonnie, in Willoughby Hills.

School Levy Scheduled for Another Vote

The Circleville School Board unanimously passed a resolution Tuesday night to place a 3.5 mill operating levy on the May Primary ballot.

The May primary will be considered a special election since there are no statewide issues or candidates appearing on the ballot, Fritz Jacobs, city superintendent told the board.

A 55 per cent majority will be needed to carry the levy in May, Jacobs explained.

He also advised members that if the levy fails in May, the board will be allowed to present it to the voters only one more time this year.

ALTHOUGH revenue would not be available from the levy until 1968, board members agreed that in order to plan for the 1967-68 school year, it would be necessary to know the voters' feelings about the issue.

A similar levy was defeated by voters of the City School District in the 1966 general election in November and again at a special election Dec. 13.

As a result of the defeat, the school administrators initiated economy measures for the remainder of the year. They plan further cuts in the school's budget next year.

2 Men Held On Saginaw Murder Count

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Two Saginaw men were in jail today awaiting preliminary hearing on first degree murder charges in connection with the slayings of two couples.

William Eddington, 22, and Ronald Johnson, 23, were held without bond after their arraignment Tuesday. Examination was set for Feb. 23.

Both are charged with the shooting deaths of Dr. and Mrs. Archer Clayton. Eddington also was charged with the slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Middel-dorf.

Clayton, 73, was a prominent Negro physician and former U. S. commissioner to the Virgin Islands during the Eisenhower administration. He and his wife, Marie, 57, both were shot in the head. Their bodies were found in their suburban home Feb. 2.

Three days later the bodies of Middel-dorf, 63, and his wife, Gertrude, 62, were found in their home about a mile from the Claytons'. Middel-dorf, a former teacher, had been suffocated and stabbed. His wife was drowned in a bathtub.

Saginaw County Prosecutor Robert Currie said the men were held on armed robbery charges until evidence in the slayings could be analyzed. He said robbery was the motive in the slayings.

CIA Scandal Raises Loud Probe Demand

Major Change Of Cabinet Is Drafted

Details To Go To Congress Within 3 Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's third major cabinet reorganization plan apparently will be much more than a simple merger of the Commerce and Labor Departments.

The administration reportedly is shooting for a broad new department based on economic affairs and economic development.

Details of the proposal are expected to go to Congress within three weeks.

Administration sources said Wednesday no definite decisions have yet been made on the related agencies to be included in the new proposed department. Details of the reorganization are in the hands of a five-man task force which has yet to submit a final plan to the White House. One source said thinking has been shifting almost daily.

In his State of the Union message, Johnson proposed establishing a new Department of Business and Labor. Officials now say that name has been dropped although a new name has not yet been selected.

"By combining the Department of Commerce with the Department of Labor and other related agencies, we can create a more economical, efficient and modern instrument to serve a growing nation," Johnson said.

A key phrase in that remark, it now develops, is "other related agencies."

There has been talk of possibly including in the proposed department such independent agencies as the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, the National Mediation Board, which handles railroad cases, and the Small Business Administration.

Part of the Office of Economic Opportunity, especially the job and manpower aspects, has also reportedly been discussed for possible inclusion as have the manpower retraining projects of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Ultimatum's Rejected By Sukarno

JAKARTA (AP) — President Sukarno conferred with his chief political supporters today after rejecting what military leaders termed their final demand that he resign from the presidency he has held since he declared Indonesia's independence in 1945.

A top deputy of Gen. Suharto, head of the military regime now governing Indonesia, had said "there will be no more missions, no more talks" with Sukarno. But other military sources said it was possible further attempts may be made to avoid a showdown since Sukarno's popularity with the masses is still a factor to reckon with.

The president remained closed for more than an hour with about 30 leaders of the pro-Sukarno Indonesian Nationalist party, the PNI. There was no immediate indication whether they were still backing his attempt to hold onto the semblance of power in hopes that eventually he could regain control.

Rhodes To Discuss Bridge over Erie

243 Red Troops Die in Battle

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Korean marines reported killing 243 North Vietnamese regulars today in a three-hour battle through rice paddies about 340 miles north-east of Saigon. It was the biggest battle in recent months in Vietnam.

In the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, Vietnamese authorities reported a combined army-ranger unit killed 56 Viet Cong in a pitched battle Tuesday. But in the Long Tau River — the main shipping channel into Saigon — 14 American sailors were wounded and one was missing when guerrillas sank one 80-foot U.S. minesweeper, badly damaged two others and fired on a fourth.

While the tempo of the ground war quickened, U.S. planes attacked transport routes in North Vietnam's panhandle area. Bad weather again was reported over most of the Communist north, and U.S. pilots relied on radar to guide them to their targets.

A Korean spokesman said two companies of Korean marines — about 400 men — took moderate casualties in the big battle this morning against an estimated 1,200 North Vietnamese attackers. The Koreans were pursuing the North Vietnamese tonight, he reported.

One company of Koreans was moving into a mountainous Communist stronghold 11 miles north of Quang Ngai City when the North Vietnamese attacked them with mortars. Additional Korean marines were moved into the area, and the enemy death toll mounted as the marines swept through the valley north of the Tra Khuc River.

The enemy unit was identified by the Korean spokesman as the 1st Battalion of the 21st North Vietnamese regiment.

The first Viet Cong attack on the U.S. minesweepers in the Saigon channel came at 7 a. m., when guerrillas opened fire on two of the 80-foot boats about 15 miles southeast of the capital.

As one of the boats began to sink, the other sweeper pushed it aground to keep the channel clear. Six crewmen were injured and one was reported missing. Air strikes were called in.

Three hours later, another

U.S. minesweeper hit a mine seven miles farther down river and sank. Eight crewmen were injured.

During the afternoon, guerrilla gunners opened fire on a fourth minesweeper and continued shooting until it was out of range. A tanker moving down river was forced to turn back.

American infantry units were busy with more than a dozen operations in various parts of South Vietnam, but they reported only light, scattered contact.

A U.S. spokesman said American war planes flew 67 missions over North Vietnam Tuesday, nearly all of them in the southern panhandle. Air Force pilots reported a large secondary explosion after hitting a ferry complex five miles south of Dong Hoi.

India Holds Week-Long Elections

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The world's most populous democracy, India, began a week-long election today which was expected to return Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress party to power. But its overwhelming 234-seat majority in the lower house of Parliament may be reduced by discontent with skyrocketing food prices and inflation and by political defections.

Nearly 251 million Indians, 75 per cent of them illiterate, were eligible to choose 520 members of Parliament and 3,560 state legislators for five-year terms. The election lasts a week because there are not enough police and election personnel to man all polls.

Counting of the vote will not begin until the last polls close Feb. 21, and final results are not expected before Feb. 24.

Millions of voters left their mud huts and dusty villages this morning to line up several hours before voting began at 8 a. m. Many women, traveling out of their villages for the first time in years, wore veils to protect themselves from the gaze of strangers.

College Group Involvement Causes Furor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disclosure that the government's top espionage agency financed activities abroad by the nation's largest college student organization brought howls of protest today and demands for a prompt investigation.

Eight House Democrats urged an inquiry "at the highest level" into the secret funding by the Central Intelligence Agency of the National Student Association's participation in world student conferences.

The organization, whose board of directors said it was shocked by the disclosure, received an estimated $200,000 a year during most of the undercover relationship, which lasted more than 10 years. It was broken off at the request of NSA, a 1.3-million-member group with affiliations at 300 campuses.

Sam Brown, chairman of NSA's supervisory board — which has scheduled an emergency meeting for today — said Tuesday night it "comes as a shock" to find the board was "only the policy-making body on the secondary level."

Asked who was the top policy-making body, he said: "The CIA."

The Washington Post quoted an unidentified NSA official today as saying, "Every year the CIA picked out a man or two that it could trust and told them about the undercover funding" of NSA. The source said some of these young men later joined the CIA, often acting as liaison agents to the student group.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., who has helped spearhead federal aid for education, called for a sweeping review of all government aid to educational organizations.

"What is the CIA that it should be the arbiter of all that is right and just?" she asked. "Perhaps we need a law requiring the registration of government agencies trying to influence education, just as we have laws requiring lobbyists to register."

Not all congressmen were aroused, however. One old hand familiar with security matters said, "There is nothing new in all this. It just happened to surface."

Bloodmobile Due Friday

Volunteer Effort, Teamwork Essential to Blood Program

Volunteer service and teamwork are the by-words of the Red Cross Bloodmobile in Pickaway County.

This theme will be in evidence aplenty Friday when the Red Cross Bloodmobile makes its first visit of 1967 to Circleville. Many groups and individuals, including the all-important donors, are the key to a successful effort.

The mobile unit will set up operations as usual at the First Methodist Church, Main and Pickaway Sts. Donors will be welcomed from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Local blood program sponsors and promoters hold high hopes the community will be able to come up with another excellent collection effort — just as it did in 1966. The Bloodmobile has been scheduled to come here nine times this year.

THE VOLUNTEER service-teamwork approach becomes reality through numerous people and organizations, with the Circleville Rotary Club Donor Recruitment Committee playing a vital role. The Rotarian project is under the able chairmanship of Clare Silkwood.

Working in close cooperation with the Rotary committee are officers and officials of the Pickaway County Chapter,

14 Latin Governments Sign Treaty

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Fourteen Latin-American governments signed the treaty of Tlatelolco Tuesday night to ban nuclear weapons from the vast territory between the United States and the antarctic.

But before the first treaty banning nuclear weapons from a populated area is binding, it must be ratified by all governments controlling territory in the zone and guaranteed by the five nuclear powers.

Only Mexico said definitely it was waiving the requirements for putting the treaty into force. Seven countries within the zone did not sign at the ceremony in the Mexican Foreign Ministry building for various reasons, but their delegates to the treaty-writing commission have indicated they may sign later.

Ten of those who did sign are expected to waive the requirements for putting it into force when the treaty comes up for ratification in their congresses. They are Colombia, Costa Rica, Chile, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Mexico, Panama, and Uruguay.

Most diplomats who took part in the almost four years of negotiations insisted they feel the documents will be valuable.

Speck Moved To Peoria

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, 25, charged with murdering eight student nurses, was taken by car today from the Cook County jail to Peoria, said Warden Jack Johnson.

Sheriff's police accompanied Speck on the drive and he was lodged in a fourth-floor cell in the Peoria County jail.

He is to be tried on all eight indictments simultaneously when his trial opens in Peoria Monday, according to a ruling issued Tuesday by Judge Herbert C. Paschen. The judge also announced a set of sweeping guidelines regulating news coverage of the trial.

Prosecution attorneys objected to a single trial on all eight charges of murder, but they were overruled by Judge Paschen during a closed-door session. The rulings settled the last of a series of 24 motions made on Speck's behalf by Gerald Getty, Cook County public defender, who will represent him.

School Levy Scheduled for Another Vote

But in the Long Tau River — the main shipping channel into Saigon — 14 American sailors were wounded and one was missing when guerrillas sank one 80-foot U.S. minesweeper, badly damaged two others and fired on a fourth.

While the tempo of the ground war quickened, U.S. planes attacked transport routes in North Vietnam's panhandle area. Bad weather again was reported over most of the Communist north, and U.S. pilots relied on radar to guide them to their targets.

A Korean spokesman said two companies of Korean marines — about 400 men — took moderate casualties in the big battle this morning against an estimated 1,200 North Vietnamese attackers. The Koreans were pursuing the North Vietnamese tonight, he reported.

One company of Koreans was moving into a mountainous Communist stronghold 11 miles north of Quang Ngai City when the North Vietnamese attacked them with mortars.

Additional Korean marines were moved into the area, and the enemy death toll mounted as the marines swept through the valley north of the Tra Khuc River.

The enemy unit was identified by the Korean spokesman as the 1st Battalion of the 21st North Vietnamese regiment.

The first Viet Cong attack on the U.S. minesweepers in the Saigon channel came at 7 a. m., when guerrillas opened fire on two of the 80-foot boats about 15 miles southeast of the capital.

As one of the boats began to sink, the other sweeper pushed it aground to keep the channel clear. Six crewmen were injured and one was reported missing. Air strikes were called in.

Three hours later, another

U.S. minesweeper hit a mine seven miles farther down river and sank. Eight crewmen were injured.

During the afternoon, guerrilla gunners opened fire on a fourth minesweeper and continued shooting until it was out of range. A tanker moving down river was forced to turn back.

American infantry units were busy with more than a dozen operations in various parts of South Vietnam, but they reported only light, scattered contact.

A U.S. spokesman said American war planes flew 67 missions over North Vietnam Tuesday, nearly all of them in the southern panhandle. Air Force pilots reported a large secondary explosion after hitting a ferry complex five miles south of Dong Hoi.

India Holds Week-Long Elections

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The world's most populous democracy, India, began a week-long election today which was expected to return Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress party to power. But its overwhelming 234-seat majority in the lower house of Parliament may be reduced by discontent with skyrocketing food prices and inflation and by political defections.

Nearly 251 million Indians, 75 per cent of them illiterate, were eligible to choose 520 members of Parliament and 3,560 state legislators for five-year terms. The election lasts a week because there are not enough police and election personnel to man all polls.

Counting of the vote will not begin until the last polls close Feb. 21, and final results are not expected before Feb. 24.

Millions of voters left their mud huts and dusty villages this morning to line up several hours before voting began at 8 a. m. Many women, traveling out of their villages for the first time in years, wore veils to protect themselves from the gaze of strangers.

College Group Involvement Causes Furor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disclosure that the government's top espionage agency financed activities abroad by the nation's largest college student organization brought howls of protest today and demands for a prompt investigation.

Eight House Democrats urged an inquiry "at the highest level" into the secret funding by the Central Intelligence Agency of the National Student Association's participation in world student conferences.

The organization, whose board of directors said it was shocked by the disclosure, received an estimated $200,000 a year during most of the undercover relationship, which lasted more than 10 years. It was broken off at the request of NSA, a 1.3-million-member group with affiliations at 300 campuses.

Sam Brown, chairman of NSA's supervisory board — which has scheduled an emergency meeting for today — said Tuesday night it "comes as a shock" to find the board was "only the policy-making body on the secondary level."

Asked who was the top policy-making body, he said: "The CIA."

The Washington Post quoted an unidentified NSA official today as saying, "Every year the CIA picked out a man or two that it could trust and told them about the undercover funding" of NSA. The source said some of these young men later joined the CIA, often acting as liaison agents to the student group.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., who has helped spearhead federal aid for education, called for a sweeping review of all government aid to educational organizations.

"What is the CIA that it should be the arbiter of all that is right and just?" she asked. "Perhaps we need a law requiring the registration of government agencies trying to influence education, just as we have laws requiring lobbyists to register."

Not all congressmen were aroused, however. One old hand familiar with security matters said, "There is nothing new in all this. It just happened to surface."

Bloodmobile Due Friday

Volunteer Effort, Teamwork Essential to Blood Program

Volunteer service and teamwork are the by-words of the Red Cross Bloodmobile Program in Pickaway County.

This theme will be in evidence aplenty Friday when the Red Cross Bloodmobile makes its first visit of 1967 to Circleville. Many groups and individuals, including the all-important donors, are the key to a successful effort.

The mobile unit will set up operations as usual at the First Methodist Church, Main and Pickaway Sts. Donors will be welcomed from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Local blood program sponsors and promoters hold high hopes the community will be able to come up with another excellent collection effort — just as it did in 1966. The Bloodmobile has been scheduled to come here nine times this year.

THE VOLUNTEER service-teamwork approach becomes reality through numerous people and organizations, with the Circleville Rotary Club Donor Recruitment Committee playing a vital role. The Rotarian project is under the able chairmanship of Clare Silkwood.

Working in close cooperation with the Rotary committee are officers and officials of the Pickaway County Chapter, (Continued on Page 8)

REQUIRED PROCEDURE — One of the first steps in donating blood is a check on temperature and pulse, taken by a nurse or nurse aide. Undergoing the check here are, from the left: Arthur Francis, Don Gaines, Peter Cherrington and Mrs. Robert Ecard. Providing the service is Mrs. Reber Bell, a volunteer Red Cross nurse aide.

The proposed Pickaway County airport program was reviewed Tuesday afternoon when members of project committee met with the county commissioners.

Discussing the program were Robert Johnson, Robert Cole, John H. Dunlap Jr., Frank Bowling Jr., and J. Boyd Stout, all members of an airport finance committee appointed by the commissioners earlier this year.

Representing the commissioners were Charles Morris Jr. and Wayne Hines. Chairman Lloyd Melvin was unable to be present.

Hanoi Failed To Listen to Soviet Pleas

Kosygin Urged Troop Movements Halt for Truce

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin urged North Vietnam's Communist rulers in vain to halt the flow of troops and arms to South Vietnam as one essential step to ensure peace talks, diplomatic informants said today.

These sources said the Soviet leader's advice made plain Hanoi's action — or even a promise of it — would be balanced by a guaranteed American military standoff.

The failure of President Ho Chi Minh's regime to respond positively and swiftly to Kosygin's prompting led to the resumption of American air raids in North Vietnam Monday, and thus to the failure of intensive Soviet-British peacemaking efforts during Kosygin's visit to Britain last week, the sources said.

Yet Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his key advisers apparently still hope North Vietnam's rulers may halt, or promise to halt, the dispatch of military reinforcements to South Vietnam and that this will activate an agreed Soviet-British peacemaking program.

Wilson told the House of Commons Tuesday:

"There is an initiative... a plan that I can't tell you about which could bring peace tomorrow and which requires a very small move to activate all the very complicated machinery that could bring us to peace."

The British also seem to be convinced, on the basis of what Kosygin has told them, that two of the chief factors behind Hanoi's failure to respond probably were these:

1. There are now around 100,000 North Vietnamese troops across the frontier operating in support of the Viet Cong. President Ho plainly does not want to leave them high and dry. Yet Kosygin is understood to have stressed that any cutoff of military supplies need not deprive them of food or material supplies.

2. There are now also about 100,000 Red Chinese in North Vietnam whose main mission seems to be to stiffen Hanoi's resistance against anything that Peking would regard as a retreat.

Wilson and Foreign Secretary George Brown reportedly emerged from their week of contact with Kosygin profoundly impressed with what they took to be a deep, genuine Russian anxiety for a settlement.

POLE FIRE — Circleville Fireman Ron Sowers surveys damage caused when a fire spread from a barrel to a nearby utility pole. The fire prompted Chief Bernard Wolfe to caution residents against burning trash.

Fire Chief Warns Residents Against Burning Trash

A trash fire that ignited a utility pole 3:30 p. m. Tuesday has prompted Circleville Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe to issue a warning to local residents.

Chief Wolfe called attention to a city ordinance which prohibits the burning of trash.

"It's the time of year when people begin their spring house cleaning," Wolfe said. "Inflammable debris that is cleaned out should be placed in containers for the trash haulers who will dispose of it at the local dumps." Conditions at this time of year present a serious fire hazard, the chief pointed out. The grass is dead and dry.

BRISK winds can carry a spark to areas of dry grass where a blaze of serious dimensions can easily be started, he said.

The blaze Tuesday on N. Court St. involved trash in a barrel. Flames spread to a utility pole which was heavily damaged before firemen were called to the scene.

Auditor Reports Change In Personal Property Tax

Pickaway County Auditor Marvin Rhoades has been advised of a change in the personal property tax base for merchants and restaurants.

The change affects the 1967 personal property tax returns due to be filed with the county auditor between today and April 30.

The 1967 forms instruct merchants to list the first one hundred thousand dollars of the average inventory at 54 per cent of true value.

These instructions are to be disregarded, Mrs. Rhoades said. Taxpayers are now advised the property must be listed at 70 per cent of true value.

All persons engaged in business on Dec. 31, 1966, including manufacturers, merchants, contractors, farmers, physicians, dentists, attorneys and accountants are required to file personal property tax returns.

They are required to report all inventories supplies, equipment, fixtures and machinery used in business.

Every person who rents furnished rooms or furnished apartments must file a personal property tax return, listing the furniture, fixtures and equipment included in the rental facilities.

The auditor also reminded residents owning investments, such as shares of stock, corporate bonds, municipal bonds, mortgage notes, or land contracts, to file personal property tax returns as such property is taxable whether or not used in business.

All personal property taxes paid to the county treasurer are used for the support of schools, libraries, health, police and fire services.

Tax blanks and assistance in the preparation of the return may be obtained at the office of county auditor. There are penalties in addition to the tax if a person fails to file a return within the time prescribed.

He was also charged with failing to post an age limit warning sign and with permitting unsanitary conditions in a men's restroom.

Insurance Men Defend Higher Premium Rates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio motorists "fare quite well" on auto insurance premiums compared with policyholders in other industrial states, an insurance industry official has testified in a marathon defense of recent rate increases.

The entire five hours of the first day of a public hearing on controversial higher premiums effected in Ohio last November were spent Tuesday by Daniel J. McNamara of New York in the witness chair.

McNamara was to continue today under cross-examination by AFL-CIO attorney David Clayman. The labor lawyer drew from him Tuesday acknowledgment that at least three states have forced insurance firms to back down on rate increases since 1955.

State Insurance Supt. William Morris called the hearing at the request of the Ohio AFL-CIO after it objected when the higher rates were filed with Morris by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association.

McNamara's testimony as secretary of the underwriters' bureau focused chiefly Tuesday on procedures and statistics the insurance firms used to arrive at higher premiums.

McNamara defended the increases as "equitable" in view of "the mounting frequency of accidents and the cost of settling claims."

He said Ohio was just one of 42 states which approved auto insurance increases over the past year.

He said sharply higher damage claims paid out had exceeded what member firms of his bureau had provided for in their old rates. He added that the new rates would not help recover these past losses but would bring premiums in line with current accident statistics for Ohio.

The last previous liability insurance increase was 4.4 per cent in September 1965, he noted.

The two associations, which set rates for about 20 per cent of Ohio's auto insurance, adopted average increases last year of 13.5 per cent on liability coverage and 11.5 per cent on comprehensive-collision. It is these which are being contested.

AFL-CIO officials are expected to testify before the hearing concludes. Supt. Morris, who could rescind the increases if they are shown to be excessive, said he would consider evidence from both sides as well as research by his own department.

Driving with No License Costly for Two Motorists

Two Lockbourne motorists learned Tuesday that unlicensed driving in this area can be an expensive proposition.

Fined $100 and costs and sentenced to two days in jail by Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb were Albert Gibson and Willia A. Lee, both 21.

Gibson reportedly was learning to drive Lee's auto when stopped by city patrolmen. But it was learned that he was driving under suspension of his license.

Lee was cited for permitting an unlicensed driver the use of his vehicle. Both jail terms were suspended.

Jack Nat Ferrell, 54, of Jackson, was cited for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone. He was fined $15 and costs.

Richard A. Martindale, 20, of Laureville was fined $10 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Forfeiting $24 bonds for speeding were: Earl Scott Darnell, 31, of Mouthcard, Ky.; Bobbie K. Morris, 27, of Columbus; Robert C. Harned, 42, of Cortland; Norman L. Anderson, 36, Auburn Hgts., Mich.; Thomas William Mather, 44, of Cleveland; Lucien E. Thacker, 37, of Circleville.

Forfeiting a $34 bond for speeding was Terry Ferrell, 48, of Rhode Island.

A $24 bond was forfeited by Robert Vaughn Schaffer of Wapakoneta for failure to have assured insurance.

Other bond forfeitures in the $19 class for speed were: Franklin D. Shoemaker, 33, of Gallipolis; Norma Friedman, 49, of Williamsport, New York; Frank Barra Selis, 21, of Leipsic; Herman H. Whitt, Jr., 20, of Russel, Ky.; Doris Lee Wade, 35, of Gallipolis; Leland K. Wells, 42, of Prestonburg, Ky.; Stephen Brown, 20, of Chillicothe; Lois Jean King, 22, of Columbus; William R. Brown, 39, of Davis, W. Va.; Corbett Dale Sigmen, 24, of Fenton, Mich.; Fredrick K. Krutcher, 45, of Kingston; William R. Snedgar, 20, of Gallipolis; Joyce L. Seall, 31, of Akron; Ronald Lee Lyons, 27, of Columbus; John D. Bricker, 27, of Grove City; and Ernest Abella, 25, of Warren, Mich.

Antisemitism Town Issue

WAYNE, N. J. (AP) — Two Jewish candidates for the Wayne Township Board of Education have been defeated after an election campaign in which their religion was an issue. One of them was an incumbent.

The two, Jack Mandell, the incumbent, and Robert L. Kraus, ran fourth and fifth Tuesday night in a field of five seeking three seats on the nine-member board. Newton Miller, the board's vice president, had publicly urged their defeat in a statement which touched off a weeklong controversy prior to the election.

"It was obviously a victory for Mr. Miller," said Mandell. "The vote was along religious lines. I'm afraid they voted against us only because we were Jewish."

Mandell, a 35-year-old lawyer who was elected to the board three years ago, said he did not think the outcome of the election was entirely due to Miller.

"He just gave the anti-Semitic feeling in the township a chance to rear its ugly head," said Mandell.

Kraus said, "The voters of Wayne have expressed their judgment and there is little point in trying to figure out the effect of the unfortunate events of last week."

Miller, in response to a request for his views, had made a statement to the local daily newspaper, Wayne Today which printed it on Feb. 7.

His statement said: "Most Jewish people are liberals, especially when it comes to spending for education. If Kraus and Mandell are elected for three years, with Laffer (Fred Laffer who is also Jewish) on for two more years, that's a 3-6 vote. It would only take two more votes for a majority and Wayne could be in real financial trouble."

"Two more votes and we lose what is left of Christ in our Christmas celebrations in our schools. Think about it."

Miller was censured by his school board colleagues and was asked to resign, but refused. He said he was a liberal and far from bigoted.

The engineer's comments were expressed today after the commissioners Tuesday said the engineering department had been advised to correct the difficulty, but that no action had been taken.

The ditch dispute erupted when a property owner in the area told the commissioners he could not reach his lot due to surface water during wet spells.

The engineer said his department made an inspection of the area some time ago and reported back to the commissioners that the work should be done by the subdivider.

Hanoi Failed To Listen to Soviet Pleas

Kosygin Urged Troop Movements Halt for Truce

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin urged North Vietnam's Communist rulers in vain to halt the flow of troops and arms to South Vietnam as one essential step to ensure peace talks, diplomatic informants said today.

These sources said the Soviet leader's advice made plain Hanoi's action — or even a promise of it — would be balanced by a guaranteed American military standoff.

The failure of President Ho Chi Minh's regime to respond positively and swiftly to Kosygin's prompting led to the resumption of American air raids in North Vietnam Monday, and thus to the failure of intensive Soviet-British peacemaking efforts during Kosygin's visit to Britain last week, the sources said.

Yet Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his key advisers apparently still hope North Vietnam's rulers may halt, or promise to halt, the dispatch of military reinforcements to South Vietnam and that this will activate an agreed Soviet-British peacemaking program.

Wilson told the House of Commons Tuesday:

"There is an initiative ... a plan that I can't tell you about which could bring peace tomorrow and which requires a very small move to activate all the very complicated machinery that could bring us to peace."

The British also seem to be convinced, on the basis of what Kosygin has told them, that two of the chief factors behind Hanoi's failure to respond probably were these:

1. There are now around 100,000 North Vietnamese troops across the frontier operating in support of the Viet Cong. President Ho plainly does not want to leave them high and dry. Yet Kosygin is understood to have stressed that any cutoff of military supplies need not deprive them of food or material supplies.

2. There are now also about 100,000 Red Chinese in North Vietnam whose main mission seems to be to stiffen Hanoi's resistance against anything that Peking would regard as a retreat.

Wilson and Foreign Secretary George Brown reportedly emerged from their week of contact with Kosygin profoundly impressed with what they took to be a deep, genuine Russian anxiety for a settlement.

Fire Chief Warns Residents Against Burning Trash

A trash fire that ignited a utility pole 3:30 p. m. Tuesday has prompted Circleville Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe to issue a warning to local residents.

Chief Wolfe called attention to a city ordinance which prohibits the burning of trash.

Auditor Reports Change In Personal Property Tax

Pickaway County Auditor Marvin Rhoades has been advised of a change in the personal property tax base for merchants and restaurants.

The change affects the 1967 personal property tax returns due to be filed with the county auditor between today and April 30.

The 1967 forms instruct merchants to list the first one hundred thousand dollars of the average inventory at 54 per cent of true value.

These instructions are to be disregarded, Mrs. Rhoades said. Taxpayers are now advised the property must be listed at 70 per cent of true value.

All persons engaged in business on Dec. 31, 1966, including manufacturers, merchants, contractors, farmers, physicians, dentists, attorneys and accountants are required to file personal property tax returns.

They are required to report all inventories supplies, equipment, fixtures and machinery used in business.

Every person who rents furnished rooms or furnished apartments must file a personal property tax return, listing the furniture, fixtures and equipment included in the rental facilities.

The auditor also reminded residents owning investments, such as shares of stock, corporate bonds, municipal bonds, mortgage notes, or land contracts, to file personal property tax returns as such property is taxable whether or not used in business.

All personal property taxes paid to the county treasurer are used for the support of schools, libraries, health, police and fire services.

Tax blanks and assistance in the preparation of the return may be obtained at the office of county auditor. There are penalties in addition to the tax if a person fails to file a return within the time prescribed.

Way Out Lounge On Way Out?

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—State liquor control agents have issued a three - count citation against Leland Sowders, operator of Dayton's Way Out Lounge, the first in Ohio to feature topless dancers.

Sowders was charged with improper conduct for allowing one girl to wear what agents called "insufficient clothing" and to dance with "suggestive movements."

He was also charged with failing to post an age limit warning sign and with permitting unsanitary conditions in a men's restroom.

Insurance Men Defend Higher Premium Rates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio motorists "fare quite well" on auto insurance premiums compared with policyholders in other industrial states, an insurance industry official has testified in a marathon defense of recent rate increases.

The entire five hours of the first day of a public hearing on controversial higher premiums effected in Ohio last November were spent Tuesday with Daniel J. McNamara of New York in the witness chair.

McNamara was to continue today under cross-examination by AFL-CIO attorney David Clayman. The labor lawyer drew from him Tuesday acknowledgment that at least three states have forced insurance firms to back down on rate increases since 1955.

State Insurance Supt. William Morris called the hearing at the request of the Ohio AFL-CIO after it objected when the higher rates were filed with Morris by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association.

McNamara's testimony as secretary of the underwriters' bureau focused chiefly Tuesday on procedures and statistics the insurance firms used to arrive at higher premiums.

McNamara defended the increases as "equitable" in view of "the mounting frequency of accidents and the cost of settling claims."

He said Ohio was just one of 42 states which approved auto insurance increases over the past year.

He said sharply higher damage claims paid out had exceeded what member firms of his bureau had provided for in their old rates. He added that the new rates would not help recover these past losses but would bring premiums in line with current accident statistics for Ohio.

The last previous liability insurance increase was 4.4 per cent in September 1965, he noted.

The two associations, which set rates for about 20 per cent of Ohio's auto insurance, adopted average increases last year of 13.5 per cent on liability coverage and 11.5 per cent on comprehensive-collision. It is these which are being contested.

AFL-CIO officials are expected to testify before the hearing concludes. Supt. Morris, who could rescind the increases if they are shown to be excessive, said he would consider evidence from both sides as well as research by his own department.

Driving with No License Costly for Two Motorists

Two Lockbourne motorists learned Tuesday that unlicensed driving in this area can be an expensive proposition.

Fined $100 and costs and sentenced to two days in jail by Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb were Albert Gibson and Willia A. Lee, both 21.

Gibson reportedly was learning to drive Lee's auto when stopped by city patrolmen. But it was learned that he was driving under suspension of his license.

Lee was cited for permitting an unlicensed driver the use of his vehicle. Both jail terms were suspended.

Jack Nat Ferrell, 54, of Jackson, was cited for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone. He was fined $15 and costs.

Richard A. Martindale, 20, of Laurelville was fined $10 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Forfeiting $24 bonds for speeding were: Earl Scott Darrell, 31, of Moundhead, Ky.; Bobbie K. Morris, 27, of Columbus; Robert C. Harned, 42, Cortland; Norman L. Anderson, 36, Auburn Hgts., Mich.; Thomas William Mather, 44, of Cleveland; Lucien E. Thacker, 37, of Circleville.

Forfeiting a $34 bond for speeding was Terry Ferrell, 48, of Rhode Island.

A $24 bond was forfeited by Robert Vaughn Schaffer of Wapakoneta for failure to have assured distance.

Other bond forfeitures in the $19 class for speed were: Franklin D. Shoemaker, 33, of Gallipolis; Norma Friedman, 49, of Williamsville, New York; Frank Barra Selis, 21, of Leipsic; Herman H. Whitt, Jr., 20, of Russell, Ky.; Doris Lee Wade, 35, of Gallipolis; Leland K. Wells, 42, of Prestonburg, Ky.; Stephen Brown, 20, of Chillicothe; Lois Jean King, 22, of Columbus; William R. Antisemitism Town Issue

WAYNE, N. J. (AP) — Two Jewish candidates for the Wayne Township Board of Education have been defeated after an election campaign in which their religion was an issue. One of them was an incumbent.

The two, Jack Mandell, the incumbent, and Robert L. Kraus, ran fourth and fifth Tuesday night in a field of five seeking three seats on the nine-member board. Newton Miller, the board's vice president, had publicly urged their defeat in a statement which touched off a weeklong controversy prior to the election.

"It was obviously a victory for Mr. Miller," said Mandell. "The vote was along religious lines. I'm afraid they voted against us only because we were Jewish."

Mandell, a 35-year-old lawyer who was elected to the board three years ago, said he did not think the outcome of the election was entirely due to Miller.

"He just gave the anti-Semitic feeling in the township a chance to roar its ugly head," said Mandell.

Kraus said, "The voters of Wayne have expressed their judgment and there is little point in trying to figure out the effect of the unfortunate events of last week."

Miller, in response to a request for his views, had made a statement to the local daily newspaper, Wayne Today which printed it on Feb. 7.

His statement said: "Most Jewish people are liberals, especially when it comes to spending for education. If Kraus and Mandell are elected for three years, with Lafer (Fred Lafer who is also Jewish) on for two more years, that's a 3-6 vote. It would only take two more votes for a majority and Wayne could be in real financial trouble."

"Two more votes and we lose what is left of Christ in our Christmas celebrations in our schools. Think about it."

Miller was censured by his school board colleagues and was asked to resign, but refused. He said he was a liberal and far from bigoted.

County Head Denies Ditch Responsibility

The County Engineering Department is not responsible for a ditch problem that exists in an area along the Circleville-Tarlton Road near Thatcher, it was strongly emphasized today.

County Engineer Henry McCrady said the area concerned involves a private subdivision. He added that the Pickaway County Commissioners hold a performance bond to assure the necessary ditch or drainage work is completed by the subdivider.

The engineer's comments were expressed today after the commissioners Tuesday said the engineering department had been advised to correct the difficulty, but that no action had been taken.

The ditch dispute erupted when a property owner in the area told the commissioners he could not reach his lot due to surface water during wet spells.

The engineer said his department made an inspection of the area some time ago and reported back to the commissioners that the work should be done by the subdivider.

Power of the States

Financed by a $385,000 Carnegie Foundation grant, the Institute of State Programming at the University of North Carolina will probe all facets of state government which can be made more efficient and effective.

A variety of national trends has combined to spotlight the importance of state governments in insuring the continued strength and progress of America. Ironically, one of these trends is the federal government's increased power and proliferation of programs which sometimes circumvent and ignore state administrations.

The inherent difficulties of cumbersome federal bureaucracies in implementing the mandates of Congress have turned more and more eyes to state governments as the logical receptacles of power. Solidly entrenched within the framework of the U. S. Constitution, state governments possess the added advantage of holding overruling powers over cities and towns where the majority of present-day political and social problems lie.

It's Time for Double-Talk

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter is a great time to brush up on your double-talk.

There is also no other season of the year in which it is more greatly needed.

People's nerves get edgy during the long cold sameness. Just as snow cloaks and softens the raw and barren landscape of nature, double-talk helps camouflage the monotony of most conversation in winter.

For the guidance of the beginner, here are a few typical examples of helpful double-talk — followed by their literal meanings:

"So what if you did track a little slush in on my new rug. That's hardly a crime." — But if it only were, I'd see that you were immediately hanged.

"The doctor says this bronchitis may hold on for weeks and weeks unless I do something about." — So, my dear cheap-skate husband, why don't you ante up the money for a quick flight to Florida?

"That wasn't fair, Reginald! You hit me with a snowball when I wasn't looking." — What's the matter with this nut? Won't he ever grow up!

"Be sure and wear your overshoes, dear. I don't want you to catch your death of cold." — Considering how little insurance you'd leave, my job is to keep you alive.

"Of course, Jim, we'll be glad to keep your tropical fish while you and your wife are down in Acapulco." — I'll fish through a hole in the ice here and use them for bait.

"The weather is so bad I don't think I'll buy one of those new miniskirts." — With the legs I've got, I wouldn't wear one if I lived in Tahiti.

"I'll have to walk to the station this morning, Alice. There isn't time for me to clear off the driveway." — Which means, my plump pigeon, that if you want to use the car you'll have to dig it out yourself. The exercise will do you good.

"I'm glad the schools are closing tomorrow. You can't expect children to freeze themselves to death just to get an education." — Oh, boy, that means I won't have to spend the evening helping the kids do their homework.

"Gee, Jack, I'm afraid I'll have to skip the poker game at your house tonight. My buggy is froze up solid." — Maybe by next week I can pay you what I lost last week.

"Of course, I love you, Samantha. But whoever heard of getting married in February? Let's pick a day in June." — But not in this century — maybe the next one.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Seated on the platform before an annual meeting of stockholders this spring will be a group that includes a big baker, a paper maker, a miner, an oilman, an insurance man and a maker of aspirin.

Their diversity of interests is the very thing that brings them together. It gives them something in common. And of all things, that thing in common is a bank. They are its directors.

All these men have ability, power, prestige. Most are heads of other businesses. They are successful, and their success in one area of business supposedly should be useful in another area — banking.

As representatives of other shareholders, their objective is to create long-range policy for the bank, elect capable officers and then keep a healthy prematurity, corporate boards are as sure on them, and watch out for the financing.

Despite pressures for conformity as imagination can make them. They differ widely in size, in makeup and function.

Some are full time and salaried, others meet once a month for a few hundred dollars and expenses. Some companies now pay many thousands of dollars to directors, not just for attending meetings but for their services as consultants also.

At one extreme you may find the board that is often portrayed in "B" movies and overly dramatic fiction. "I have the board in the palm of my hand," the president sneers. This is the inside board. It has to be.

The strong board generally is made up of at least a few outsiders, as illustrated by the

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO
Phil Enoch, producer - director of a television station in Columbus and son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Enoch, Route 1, accepted a position with a Cleveland TV station.

The Pickaway County Board of Commissioners authorized the purchase of a new car for Sheriff Walton W. Spangler.

Patricia Ann Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Moss, Route 1, Kingston, completed plans to enter Columbus Business University.

TEN YEARS AGO
Paul E. Rodenfels of Washington C. H. was named publisher of The Circleville Herald.

During a meeting of South Central Ohio League representatives, Washington C. H. was asked to remain in the league.

Harrison Twp. Firemen rescued a 41-year-old coon hound which had become stuck in a tree 50 feet off the ground.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Mrs. J. Beryl Stevenson was re-elected president of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church.

Samuel R. Johnson, speech and dramatic director, at Circleville High School, announced that Circleville would be the scene for the annual district debate tournament.

Boy Scouts of the community planned to hold a book drive for Army and Navy libraries.

bank. In fact, the New York Stock Exchange requires that a listed company have at least two members from outside the company.

Weak or strong, insider or outsider, the board's responsibility is pretty much the ultimate responsibility in any company. When the annual report of your company comes in a few weeks take a good look at it. Check who is being dropped from the board and who is proposed for election.

The names on the board can be a tipoff on the future of a company. If the chairman of a very successful company lends his name to the board of another you can be fairly sure he is thus vouching for the other company.

There are exceptions to this rule of thumb. Corporate chairmen are often personal friends, live in the same rich neighborhoods, belong to the same clubs and are sympathetic to each other's problems.

Such a grouping can make a board look strong on the surface even though it might be weak beneath. The erosion eventually comes to the surface, however, and as the weak company sinks the board scatters.

ONE OF THE first of the great international statesmen to be irked by what he termed "the outrageous way I am misquoted by irresponsible rumor-mongering journalists" was Otto Von Bismarck, iron-willed Chancellor of Germany from 1871 to 1890. London's top foreign correspondent at the time was W. H. Russell of the Times, and he reminded Bismarck one day, "You'll have to admit that I am one newspaper man who has respected your confidence. You have conversed with me on all sorts of subjects and never once have I repeated a word you said."

Bismarck cried angrily, "The more fool you! Do you suppose I'd ever say a word to a man in your profession that I didn't WANT TO SEE IN PRINT?"

A Very Important Movie Distributor met a springly damsel while attending a convention in Chicago and for one reason and another granted her urgent request for a pass admitting her free to his entire chain of theaters. The first time she presented it, however, to his Chicago theater (he had long since departed for the Coast) the doorman pointed to some small type on the pass that she had overlooked. It read "Not good on Sundays or holidays. Not good for matinee or evening performances. Good only in theaters that have been closed."

REMEMBERED LINES:
In a Ring Lardner story, a young boy asked his father a simple question, Father's response, as reported by Lardner: "Shut up! he explained."

In a Mark Twain tale about his uncle who toiled in a carpet factory: "One day the machinery made a snatch at him. Poor fella. He got wove up."

In Evelyn Waugh's "Decline and Fall": "Meet my daughter," said the Bishop with some disgust."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

Is venereal disease still a great threat to the youth of our country?

The key word to the question is "still". There was a time when penicillin was first discovered that it was believed that syphilis would soon be completely eradicated. For a while public health officials were encouraged.

Today they are disappointed by the tremendous increase of syphilis and gonorrhea. It is estimated that more than 120,000 new cases of syphilis are discovered every year in the United States alone.

More than one million cases of gonorrhea are found each year. These are massive and almost terrifying statistics.

Venereal disease is more common today than most all contagious diseases except measles and the common cold. This makes it a major public health threat.

Young men and women distribute venereal disease by promiscuity. Many are completely unaware that they have the infection because the symptoms are so frequently overlooked.

Neglect of the problem must be laid at the doorsteps of parents and educators if this threat to our youth continues to increase. In most states every case of venereal disease must be reported to the health department.

Physicians are sometimes hampered when they notify the parents that their "minor" children have venereal infection. Unfortunately, parents, ashamed of the social aspects of the disease, try to conceal the problem and even prevent it never existed.

The education of our youth in a concentrated way is the only hope that they as adults will avoid having their entire lives ruined by an untreated venereal infection.

Is it dangerous for a woman to have X-rays of the chest during her pregnancy?

In general, X-rays are avoided during pregnancy unless there is a very specific concern about the possibility of tuberculosis, a tumor or some other serious chest condition. Doctors are completely aware of potential radiation hazard in all of their patients and do not indiscriminately order X-rays of any part of the body.

RFK's Spirited Friends

By John Chamberlain

If Senator Robert F. Kennedy and his all-to-zealous friends aren't careful, they are going to split the Democratic Party along geographical fault lines just as the Republican Party has been split. The roots of the LBJ party are in the West and South, and since the population drift and the spread of economic resources are definitely away from the American Northeast, this means that a Kennedy may have real trouble in reaching the White House in 1972.

The latest Kennedy error has been to challenge Lyndon Johnson and Dean Rusk in the making of foreign policy. It did not sit at all well with either the President or Rusk when Bobby, on his European foray, made esoteric references in Britain to negotiations over Vietnam that could be "crucial" in the next few weeks. Senators are supposed to "advise and consent" in foreign relations, but it is traditional that they don't try to undercut the State Department by using a foreign forum to bring delicate negotiations into the limelight or by conferring conspicuously with officials of foreign governments. So, when Newsweek magazine printed a report that Bobby was coming home with a three-pronged peace proposal that had French endorsement, Lyndon Johnson figuratively hit the ceiling. Being a Texan, LBJ proceeded to call what people close to the White House are now referring to as "Bobby's bluff."

It isn't that Newsweek had invented the story; Bobby, indeed, had talked with important people in Paris in the presence of a U. S. Embassy official, and had some peace "speculations" in his pocket. But, as Dean Rusk has tried to explain, "private" assurances have a way of coming to nothing when they are followed up by anybody with official accreditation. Bobby was quick to deny he was the bearer of any "official message," but pro-LBJ people in the State Department think he was trying to cop advance credit for something good if and when it comes to pass.

Bobby has said he doesn't want "to make it more difficult by seeming to make this a personal issue between myself and the President." But his journalistic friends have been unwilling to drop the issue. News involving a Kennedy can't be whisked out of the columns without a long echo — and the multiplication of echoes threatens to turn the Democratic Party into a replica of the Republican, with personality factors superimposed on regional factors to set the East off against the West and South.

The division in the Republican Party which resulted in the Goldwater nomination is less virulent today, for Republicans know there is some papering over to do if they are to win the next election. But the fact is that the power of the West and the South in the Republican Party was increased by the November 1966 elections. With Republican conservatives in the governors' chairs in Alaska, Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming, Montana, Minnesota, Florida, and South Dakota, the conservatives easily took control of the Executive Committee of the Republican Governors Association at the Colorado Springs meeting.

No matter who gets the Republican Presidential nod in 1968, he will have to satisfy the West and the South. This is the meaning of the emergence of "favorite son" candidacies in Texas, California, Ohio, and elsewhere outside the East. The "favorites" may eventually settle on a Romney, but they are going to trade for influence. The same pattern is discernible in the Democratic Party, with "favorite son" candidacies being offered to head off a Wallace revolt in the South and so hold the fort for a Johnson-Humphrey success in 1968. By 1972 the pattern, with Johnson encouragement, may be solidified — and if Bobby Kennedy remains the victim of friends who won't "let up on Lyndon" he could find the whole South and West against him. Moreover, he could end by alienating the press when, in the middle of the row over the Manchester book, Arthur Schlesinger Jr. informed Look magazine that henceforward no Kennedy or Kennedy - supporter by - line would appear in Look, it didn't sit well with the editors of Cowles publications. As Dick Nixon could tell Bobby Kennedy's friends, it doesn't pay to tangle with the press.

Bobby, of course, has a long time in which to retrieve himself. His intelligence will tell him to stop pressing, but it may be another matter to call off those over-zealous friends.

Power of the States

Financed by a $385,000 Carnegie Foundation grant, the Institute of State Programming at the University of North Carolina will probe all facets of state government which can be made more efficient and effective.

A variety of national trends has combined to spotlight the importance of state governments in insuring the continued strength and progress of America. Ironically, one of these trends is the federal government's increased power and proliferation of programs which sometimes circumvent and ignore state administrations.

The inherent difficulties of cumbersome federal bureaucracies in implementing the mandates of Congress have turned more and more eyes to state governments as the logical receptacles of power. Solidly entrenched within the framework of the U. S. Constitution, state governments possess the added advantage of holding overruling powers over cities and towns where the majority of present-day political and social problems lie.

It's Time for Double-Talk

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter is a great time to brush up on your double-talk.

There is also no other season of the year in which it is more greatly needed.

People's nerves get edgy during the long cold sameness. Just as snow cloaks and softens the raw and barren landscape of nature, double-talk helps camouflage the monotony of most conversation in winter.

For the guidance of the beginner, here are a few typical examples of helpful double-talk — followed by their literal meaning:

"So what if you did track a little slush in on your new rug. That's hardly a crime." — But if it only were, I'd see that you were immediately hanged.

"The doctor says this bronchitis may hold on for weeks and weeks unless I do something about." — So, my dear cheap-skate husband, why don't you ante up the money for a quick flight to Florida?

"That wasn't fair, Reginald! You hit me with a snowball when I wasn't looking." — What's the matter with this nut? Won't he ever grow up!

"Be sure and wear your over-shoes, dear. I don't want you to catch your death of cold." — Considering how little insurance you'd leave, my job is to keep you alive.

"Of course, Jim, we'll be glad to keep your tropical fish while you and your wife are down in Acapulco." — I'll fish through a hole in the ice here and use them for bait.

"The weather is so bad I don't think I'll buy one of those new miniskirts." — With the legs I've got, I wouldn't wear one if I lived in Tahiti.

"I'll have to walk to the station this morning, Alice. There isn't time for me to clear off the driveway." — Which means, my plump pigeon, that if you want to use the car you'll have to dig it out yourself. The exercise will do you good.

"I'm glad the schools are closing tomorrow. You can't expect children to freeze themselves to death just to get an education." — Oh, boy, that means I won't have to spend the evening helping the kids do their homework.

"Gee, Jack, I'm afraid I'll have to skip the poker game at your house tonight. My buggy is frozen up solid." — Maybe by next week I can pay you what I lost last week.

"Of course, I love you, Samantha. But whoever heard of getting married in February? Let's pick a day in June." — But not in this century — maybe the next one.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Seated on the platform before an annual meeting of stockholders this spring will be a group that includes a big baker, a paper maker, a miner, an oilman, an insurance man and a maker of aspirin.

Their diversity of interests is the very thing that brings them together. It gives them something in common. And of all things, that thing in common is a bank. They are its directors.

All these men have ability, power, prestige. Most are heads of other businesses. They are successful, and their success in one area of business supposedly should be useful in another area — banking.

As representatives of other shareholders, their objective is to create long-range policy for the bank, elect capable officers and then keep a healthy presmity, corporate boards are as sure on them, and watch out for the financing.

Despite pressures for conformity as imagination can make them. They differ widely in size, in makeup and function.

Some are full time and salaried, others meet once a month for a few hundred dollars and expenses. Some companies now pay many thousands of dollars to directors, not just for attending meetings but for their services as consultants also.

At one extreme you may find the board that is often portrayed in "B" movies and overly dramatic fiction. "I have the board in the palm of my hand," the president sneers. This is the inside board. It has to be.

The strong board generally is made up of at least a few outsiders, as illustrated by the

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest says Americans give 40 per cent of their income to government at all levels.

"The question is whether we go to 50 per cent or 60 per cent," she said recently in a speech.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a war where everybody has too many friends to make peace easy, which makes it one of the most mixed-up wars imaginable.

The Communist North Vietnamese have to worry about their allies in South Vietnam, the Viet Cong, before they start talking peace with the United States.

They couldn't just walk out on their Viet Cong friends, even if they wanted to, and they have shown no sign of wanting to. The world is watching.

That kind of sell-out would put too much of a dent in the prestige and reliability of Communists everywhere.

And the Viet Cong, even if they wanted to, couldn't think of quitting without some understanding with North Vietnam. They are deeply obligated now. Then there are the Soviets and the Red Chinese for North Vietnam to worry about. Both have backed North Vietnam with words and supplies.

Not only now, but after the war, North Vietnam will need help from one or both. So it must think twice before doing anything, like making peace, which might mean a break with its two big friends.

At the same time North Vietnam can't afford to be too much the toady of the Soviet Union and China if it wishes to retain some independence of its own.

The United States is in even worse shape with friends and foes. It says it is fighting this war to preserve the independence of South Vietnam.

Therefore, with the world watching, even if it wanted to the United States couldn't afford a peace which left South Vietnam at the mercy of its enemies, now or in the future.

The United States couldn't think of a walkout or a sellout on South Vietnam and still retain the trust of the other Southeast Asia nations which may look on this country as its protector against Communist takeovers.

And, since the United States also says it is fighting this war in the interest of national security, it can hardly settle for a poor peace.

The United States is truly in a box. It could wipe out North Vietnam in nothing flat if it wanted to go all-out with traditional or nuclear bombing.

But such treatment of a small, backward country like North Vietnam would horrify the world, including American friends and allies.

The United States would pay a deadly price in lost respect. Yet, it is paying a deadly price in lost American lives for showing such restraint.

It is fighting a land war, which is the only kind the Viet Cong and North Vietnam can fight. They'd be no contest in an all-out air war.

While just using traditional bombing on North Vietnamese military targets, the United States has to be careful not to bomb Red China accidentally.

That might bring the Chinese into the struggle on the side of their North Vietnamese friends, which would be the biggest break for the north so far.

In turn, the Chinese have to be careful about helping their North Vietnamese friends with Chinese "volunteers." If that happened, involving China more directly with the United States, no one could predict the outcome.

Then there's the American-Soviet problem. Both sides, no doubt, would like closer relations. But the Soviets have to worry about losing face in the Communist world if they get too cozy with a country fighting a Communist state.

In the middle of this confusion, the mixed-up Chinese probably don't know what they'll be doing tomorrow or next week to themselves, to the

Only Question—
That's Her View

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest says Americans give 40 per cent of their income to government at all levels.

"The question is whether we go to 50 per cent or 60 per cent," she said recently in a speech.

Mrs. Priest, who was U.S. Treasurer under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, said there is a need to "face the realities and cut into the waste and inefficiencies in government."

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a war where everybody has too many friends to make peace easy, which makes it one of the most mixed-up wars imaginable.

The Communist North Vietnamese have to worry about their allies in South Vietnam, the Viet Cong, before they start talking peace with the United States.

They couldn't just walk out on their Viet Cong friends, even if they wanted to, and they have shown no sign of wanting to. The world is watching.

That kind of sell-out would put too much of a dent in the prestige and reliability of Communists everywhere.

And the Viet Cong, even if they wanted to, couldn't think of quitting without some understanding with North Vietnam. They are deeply obligated now. Then there are the Soviets and the Red Chinese for North Vietnam to worry about. Both have backed North Vietnam with words and supplies.

Not only now, but after the war, North Vietnam will need help from one or both. So it must think twice before doing anything, like making peace, which might mean a break with its two big friends.

At the same time North Vietnam can't afford to be too much the toady of the Soviet Union and China if it wishes to retain some independence of its own.

The United States is in even worse shape with friends and foes. It says it is fighting this war to preserve the independence of South Vietnam.

Therefore, with the world watching, even if it wanted to the United States couldn't afford a peace which left South Vietnam at the mercy of its enemies, now or in the future.

By James Marlow

The United States couldn't think of a walkout or a sellout on South Vietnam and still retain the trust of the other Southeast Asia nations which may look on this country as its protector against Communist takeovers.

And, since the United States also says it is fighting this war in the interest of national security, it can hardly settle for a poor peace.

The United States is truly in a box. It could wipe out North Vietnam in nothing flat if it wanted to go all-out with traditional or nuclear bombing.

But such treatment of a small, backward country like North Vietnam would horrify the world, including American friends and allies.

The United States would pay a deadly price in lost respect. Yet, it is paying a deadly price in lost American lives for showing such restraint.

It is fighting a land war, which is the only kind the Viet Cong and North Vietnam can fight. They'd be no contest in an all-out air war.

While just using traditional bombing on North Vietnamese military targets, the United States has to be careful not to bomb Red China accidentally.

That might bring the Chinese into the struggle on the side of their North Vietnamese friends, which would be the biggest break for the north so far.

In turn, the Chinese have to be careful about helping their North Vietnamese friends with Chinese "volunteers." If that happened, involving China more directly with the United States, no one could predict the outcome.

Then there's the American-Soviet problem. Both sides, no doubt, would like closer relations. But the Soviets have to worry about losing face in the Communist world if they get too cozy with a country fighting a Communist state.

In the middle of this confusion, the mixed-up Chinese probably don't know what they'll be doing tomorrow or next week to themselves, to the Soviet Union, or about Vietnam.

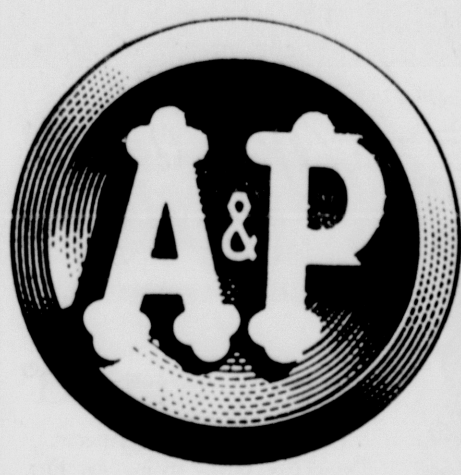

And the United States and North Vietnam, in the very center of all this chaos, keep shouting peace without being able to hear each other.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Read, Read, Read! You Won't Be Sorry

DEAR ABBY: I am in the 6th grade, and our teacher gave us for an assignment the following: Write to a famous person and ask for the one piece of advice he would give to a 6th grader. Please don't let me down, Miss Abby, for I am counting on you. Sincerely yours,

JANICE F.
DEAR JANICE: If I could give a 6th-grader only one piece of advice, it would be: READ!

In every library can be found a wealth of knowledge and pleasure. The wisdom of the ages, the best that has been thought and felt and said, awaits you. Sample it. Read for fun, for pleasure, for information!

You can live for a little while in another century, in another country — all thru books.

The man who does not read has no advantage over the man who CANNOT read.

DEAR ABBY: I have worked for a large firm for many years and it makes me cringe to see the amount of stealing that prevails under the heading of "expense accounts." Some of the expense accountants put their wives' gas tickets in with their own — Car Expense.

Some take their wives out for a birthday or anniversary celebration, along with a few other friends — "Business" entertainment.

Some buy a bottle for a friend and help him drink it. — "Promotion."

The list could go on and on. These four-flushers are worse than thieves, since they are biting the hand that feeds them. I get so mad I could cry.

INFURIATED

DEAR INFURIATED: Don't you cry. The revenueurs will get them by-and-by.

DEAR ABBY: My son has four little girls, all under 10 years old, and also a little 8-month-old boy. It seems that the 2-year-old child cannot pronounce "brother," so she has started calling the little boy "Bubba." Now everyone calls him "Bubba."

Abby, I have tried to point out that if this child grows up with "Bubba" tacked onto him, it will be a handicap in school, business and politics, and he will hate it.

I have seen this happen to men who would give their eye teeth if they had not been stuck with their nicknames. What are your ideas on this? I hope you agree with me and say so in your column before it's too late.

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: Your point has some merit. But somehow people seem to survive their nicknames: "Bubba" Smith, the great Michigan State All-American end, for example. And how about "Ike" Eisenhower?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SHOULD I?": No. Don't put him on the spot by asking him to tell you in so many words. When a boy stops calling a girl, he is silently conveying that it's all over. Accept it, and turn your attentions elsewhere.

Shower Honors Sandra Arledge

A bridal shower was given in honor of Miss Sandra Arledge, bride-elect of Mr. Lewis Jordan, in the home of Mrs. Robert Carpenter and daughter Susan.

Decorations for the bride's table consisted of a pitcher with blue and white streamers flowing like a shower to each gift.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Sue Collins, Miss Linda Dahl, Mrs. Carol Emerine, Mrs. Margie Huffer, Mrs. Carolyn Lagore, Mrs. Ruth Willis, Mrs. Ruby Wise, Mrs. Leona Crites, Mrs. Delores Hickey, Mrs. Mary Huffer, Miss Pam Huffer, Mrs. Dorothy Arledge, Mrs. Thelma Carpenter and Miss Susan Carpenter.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. Cora Essick, Mrs. Bertie Huffer, Mrs. Shirley Price, Mrs. Alys Hines, Miss Connie Riffle, Miss Cherie Riffle, Mrs. Virginia Huffer and Mrs. Jeanne Lands.

Games were played. Winners were Mrs. Dorothy Arledge, Mrs. Leona Crites and Miss Donna Whaley.

HEREDITY MENTAL ILLNESS - ASTHMA

Q. Please give me a simple yes or no answer to this question: Can mental illness be inherited?

A. It is impossible to answer this question with a simple yes or no. Experts suspect that the chromosomes (cell components that convey hereditary characteristics) probably influence body processes that may relate or predispose to mental illness. In addition to possible hereditary factors, prenatal or before-birth environment may affect personality and psychologic adaptation later in life. Finally, relationships between members of the family are of utmost importance in influencing a person's tolerance to stress, ability to cope with it, and the likelihood of breakdown as a result of it.

Q. Does asthma run in families?

A. A general predisposition to asthma seems to run in families. Individual attacks of asthma in a susceptible person depends upon a combination of psychological, infective, and allergic factors.

Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Read, Read, Read! You Won't Be Sorry

DEAR ABBY: I am in the 6th grade, and our teacher gave us for an assignment the following: Write to a famous person and ask for the one piece of advice he would give to a 6th-grader. Please don't let me down, Miss Abby, for I am counting on you. Sincerely yours,

JANICE F.

DEAR ABBY: I have worked for a large firm for many years and it makes me cringe to see the amount of stealing that prevails under the heading of "expense accounts." Some of the expense accountants put their wives' gas tickets in with their own — Car Expense.

Some take their wives out for a birthday or anniversary celebration, along with a few other friends — "Business" entertainment.

Some buy a bottle for a friend and help him drink it. — "Promotion."

The list could go on and on. These four-flushers are worse than thieves, since they are biting the hand that feeds them. I get so mad I could cry.

INFURIATED
DEAR INFURIATED: Don't you cry. The revenuers will get them by-and-by.

DEAR ABBY: My son has four little girls, all under 10 years old, and also a little 8-month-old boy. It seems that the 2-year-old child cannot pronounce "brother," so she has started calling the little boy "Bubba." Now everyone calls him "Bubba."

Abby, I have tried to point out that if this child grows up with "Bubba" tacked onto him, it will be a handicap in school, business and politics, and he will hate it.

I have seen this happen to men who would give their eye teeth if they had not been stuck with their nicknames. What are your ideas on this? I hope you agree with me and say so in your column before it's too late.

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: Your point has some merit. But somehow people seem to survive their nicknames: "Bubba" Smith, the great Michigan State All-American end, for example. And how about "Ike" Eisenhower?

HEREDITY
MENTAL ILLNESS - ASTHMA

Q. Please give me a simple yes or no answer to this question: Can mental illness be inherited?
A. It is impossible to answer this question with a simple yes or no. Experts suspect that the chromosomes (cell components that convey hereditary characteristics) probably influence body processes that may relate or predispose to mental illness. In addition to possible hereditary factors, prenatal or before-birth environment may affect personality and psychologic adaptation later in life. Finally, relationships between members of the family are of utmost importance in influencing a person's tolerance to stress, ability to cope with it, and the likelihood of breakdown as a result of it.

Q. Does asthma run in families?
A. A general predisposition to asthma seems to run in families. Individual attacks of asthma in a susceptible person depends upon a combination of psychological, infective, and allergic factors.

American Red Cross.

After planning phases of each Bloodmobile visit are completed, the volunteer machinery rolls into action. According to program officials, here are some of the essentials that assure a successful effort:

Facilities at the First Methodist Church are provided free of charge, including custodial services. The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department furnishes manpower to unload and reload equipment at most visits;

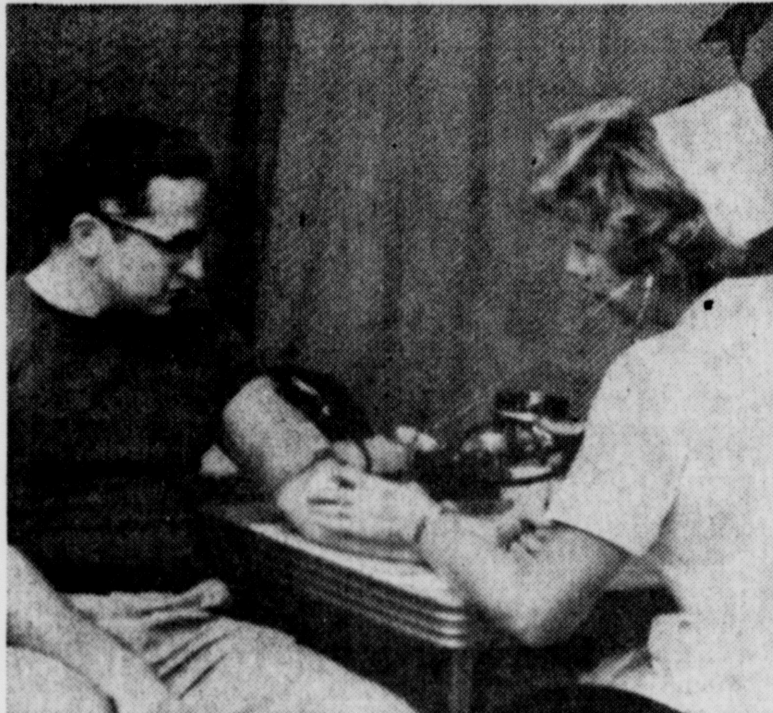

County granges take turns operating the canteen, with frequent assistance from church groups, and provide all or most of the food. The Circleville Ice Co., for many years has donated all the ice used in preserving the blood;

Providing many hours of volunteer service are local physicians, the Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn., the Practical Nurses Assn. and Red Cross Chapter volunteers who perform a multitude of tasks to include registration of donors, taking temperatures, assisting in the donor room and canteen and babysitting.

THE ONLY paid staff people at any blood visit are the four or five nurses and the driver who come from the Regional Blood Center, and the local executive secretary who gives part-time to the blood program.

Program spokesmen point out that it is this voluntary service that makes it possible to keep hospital blood costs low. The Red Cross program saves patients thousands of dollars in blood expenses each year, they say.

A thorough examination of last year's program by Rotary chairman Silkwood disclosed that 1,025 pints of blood were collected, approximately 103 per cent of quota, in eight Bloodmobile visits. A total of 1,198 persons offered to donate, with some of them rejected due to Program officials become quite serious when they explain that this community must maintain 90 per cent of collection quota each quarter during 1967. If not obtained, probation results.

The term probation means that elective surgery outside of Pickaway County would require the deposit of two pints of blood in advance. Meeting the 90 per cent quota means all community residents and their immediate families are eligible to receive their total blood needs at no cost for the blood itself.

PLANS mapped for the 1967 program note that the big push this Friday will be on industrial collections. On Mar. 24 the emphasis will be on the rural sector. Collections through church-

Woman Wins $25,000 For Recipe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A muffin mix bread laced with vegetable soup won first prize for a Topeka, Kan., housewife today in the 18th annual Pillsbury Bake-Off Contest.

The winner, Mrs. Carlos D. Bullock, a mother of three, collects the $25,000 grand prize for the recipe she said she invented by a lapse of memory.

Her one-bowl yeast bread — using corn muffin mix and a can of vegetable soup — was invented "one night when I forgot to take bread out of the freezer for dinner."

"And in the process," she said, "I found a way to get my youngsters to eat vegetables."

The $2,000 junior division prize went to a young man, Carlton V. Sawyer, 15, of Arnold, Mo. His creation was labeled a "To Me Twice Cake."

The winners in the $1,000 best-of-class categories included: Cookies—Mrs. Charles James, Akron, Ohio, for "Roll-in-Sugar" cookies.

Pies and desserts—Mrs. August C. Bork, Garfield Heights, Ohio, for "Almond Brickie Dessert."

Here is the $25,000 winning recipe:

Muffin Mix Buffet Bread:
2 packages active dry yeast
¾ cup warm water
4 to 4 1-4 cups Pillsbury Best Flour (all purpose, instant blending or self rising)
9½-ounce package Pillsbury Golden Corn Muffin Mix
10½-ounce can cream of vegetable soup
¾ cup butter, melted.
And add:
Corn meal amount not specified.
Oven 375 degrees. Yield: 3 breakaway loaves.

Softened yeast in warm water in large mixing bowl. Stir in 2 cups flour and remaining ingredients except ½ cup melted butter and corn meal. Gradually stir in remaining flour to form a stiff dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and elastic, about 5 minutes. Cover; let rest 15 to 20 minutes. Divide dough into three parts. Roll each portion of dough on floured surface to a 1 by 6-inch rectangle. Cut each portion crosswise into 10 strips 1 inch wide. Roll strips in remaining melted butter and corn meal. Place in well-greased 11 by 7-inch pans. Bake at 375 for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from pans immediately.

Tip: Dough may be shaped into three loaves. Dip in butter and corn meal; place on well greased cookie sheet and bake as directed above.

Juvenile Court Panel Heard at Nicholas PTA Meeting

Pickaway County Juvenile Court Judge Guy Cline headed a panel of speakers during a meeting of the Nicholas Drive Parent Teacher Assn.

The topic under discussion was "Juvenile Delinquency." Mrs. Jessica Wood, juvenile officer, and Millard Dorn, probation officer, completed the panel.

The meeting was opened with a Flag Ceremony presented by Brownie Troop 657. Dr. Don Schiewetz, chairman, conducted the business session. Ben Brian introduced the speakers.

Judge Cline outlined functions of the Juvenile Court which deals with approximately 500 cases per year. He explained that the Court had jurisdiction over children under 18 years of age, neglect cases, special proceedings, adults contributing to the delinquency of minors and juvenile traffic violations. The court load has increased approximately 40 per cent during the past year, the judge said.

DELINQUENCY cases have, in the past, been well below the norm in rural areas but Pickaway County showed a 10 per cent increase (exclusive of traffic violations) last year. This is commensurate with the rest of the state, according to Cline.

School delinquents or "drop-outs" had increased last year from 43 to 64, with 34 of these for pregnancies.

Judge Cline described rehabilitation measures and the operation of work details. He appealed for help from the community to provide work for such details.

A delinquent must do 100 or more hours of free work as a means of reinstatement in the community, the judge said. As an example he cited a local artist who volunteered to help one case. This boy donated his paintings to local churches. One great need the judge pointed out was for a suitable detention center. Presently delinquents are held in the third floor jail which is entirely unsuitable. He said he would like to see a training facility established.

"The County could then make use of State funds which are available, but unused, for rehabilitation programs," Cline said.

MRS. WOOD told of the problem of finding suitable placements for dependent and neglected children, citing specific cases. Dorn also used case histories to illustrate these difficulties.

TV Program Ends
NEW YORK (AP)—"What's My Line?" the second oldest program on television, will be dropped from the schedule of the Columbia Broadcasting System next fall, the New York Times said Tuesday.

In answer to a question from the floor, Judge Cline outlined what parents can do to help their children. He felt that 10 years was the important age when children begin to question parental authority. Discipline, acceptance of responsibility and the need to earn respect were three essentials he listed.

Even more importantly Judge Cline urged parents to spend time with their children and to give them a sense of direction. He said today's parents are softer and tend to capitulate, mainly because they want their children to have more than they did.

Mrs. Wood offered two pamphlets to interested parents. Copies are available at her office in the County Courthouse.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Gallup Poll said Richard Nixon is the favored choice of Republican voters for the GOP presidential nomination in 1968.

The Harris Survey, also published Tuesday, said: "At a time when Gov. George Romney appears to have a good chance of winning an election against President Johnson, former Vice President Richard Nixon seems to be sinking in popularity."

Asked to comment on the wide difference in the findings of the two polls, Michigan's Romney said: "I would not want to get in the middle because the results are poles apart."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has taken dead aim at cutting down the noise produced by jet aircraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Tuesday it has ordered a $10.5-million study aimed at significantly reducing jet noise. NASA said it would negotiate contracts of about $7.5 million with the Boeing Co., Seattle, Wash., and $3 million with Douglas Aircraft Co., Santa Monica, Calif. They are the major producers of jet planes now used by domestic airlines.

NASA's Langley Research Center in Hampton, Va., is project coordinator.

Providing many hours of volunteer service are local physicians, the Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn., the Practical Nurses Assn. and Red Cross Chapter volunteers who perform a multitude of tasks to include registration of donors, taking temperatures, assisting in the donor room and canteen and babysitting.

THE ONLY paid staff people at any blood visit are the four or five nurses and the driver who come from the Regional Blood Center, and the local executive secretary who gives part-time to the blood program.

Program spokesmen point out that it is this voluntary service that makes it possible to keep hospital blood costs low. The Red Cross program saves patients thousands of dollars in blood expenses each year, they say.

A thorough examination of last year's program by Rotary chairman Silkwood disclosed that 1,025 pints of blood were collected, approximately 103 per cent of quota, in eight Bloodmobile visits. A total of 1,198 persons offered to donate, with some of them rejected due to medical reasons.

The Bloodmobile is scheduled to come to Circleville nine times in 1967. The total quota has been increased to 1,125 pints.

After this Friday, visits will be observed on Mar. 24, April 28, June 5, July 18, Aug. 17, Sept. 15, Oct. 16 and Dec. 1.

According to Silkwood's survey figures, local industry carried a major share of the donor load in 1966. Representatives from this segment produced 691 pints of the 1,025 collected, or 57.6 per cent. Other donations were: churches, 128 pints for 10.7 per cent; clubs and organizations, 110 pints for 9.2 per cent; public service, 87 pints for 7.3 per cent; commercial, 65 pints for 5.4 per cent; and residential, 117 pints for 9.8 per cent.

PLANS mapped for the 1967 program note that the big push this Friday will be on industrial collections. On Mar. 24 the emphasis will be on the rural sector. Collections through churches will be stressed April 28 and the accent will be on clubs and organizations during the June 5 Bloodmobile visit.

Program officials become quite serious when they explain that this community must maintain 90 per cent of collection quota each quarter during 1967. If not obtained, probation results.

The term probation means that elective surgery outside of Pickaway County would require the deposit of two pints of blood in advance. Meeting the 90 per cent quota means all community residents and their immediate families are eligible to receive their total blood needs at no cost for the blood itself.

Woman Wins $25,000 For Recipe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A muffin mix bread laced with vegetable soup won first prize for a Topeka, Kan., housewife today in the 18th annual Pillsbury Bake-Off Contest.

The winner, Mrs. Carlos D. Bullock, a mother of three, collects the $25,000 grand prize for the recipe she said she invented by a lapse of memory.

Her one-bowl yeast bread — using corn muffin mix and a can of vegetable soup — was invented "one night when I forgot to take bread out of the freezer for dinner."

"And in the process," she said, "I found a way to get my youngsters to eat vegetables."

The $2,000 junior division prize went to a young man, Carlton V. Sawyer, 15, of Arnold, Md. His creation was labeled a "To Me Twice Cake."

The winners in the $1,000 best-of-class categories included: Cookies—Mrs. Charles James, Akron, Ohio, for "Roll-in-Sugar" cookies.

Pies and desserts—Mrs. August C. Bork, Garfield Heights, Ohio, for "Almond Brickie Dessert."

Here is the $25,000 winning recipe:

Muffin Mix Buffet Bread:
2 packages active dry yeast
¾ cup warm water
4 to 4 1-4 cps Pillsbury Best Flour (all purpose, instant blending or self rising)
9½-ounce package Pillsbury Golden Corn Muffin Mix
10½-ounce can cream of vegetable soup
¾ cup butter, melted.
And add:
Corn meal amount not specified.
Oven 375 degrees. Yield: 3 breakaway loaves.

Soften yeast in warm water in large mixing bowl. Stir in 2 cups flour and remaining ingredients except ½ cup melted butter and corn meal. Gradually stir in remaining flour to form a stiff dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and elastic, about 5 minutes. Cover; let rest 15 to 20 minutes. Divide dough into three parts. Roll each portion of dough on floured surface to a 1 by 6-inch rectangle. Cut each portion crosswise into 10 strips 1 inch wide. Roll strips in remaining melted butter and corn meal. Place in well-greased 11 by 7-inch pans. Bake at 375 for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from pans immediately.

Tip: Dough may be shaped into three loaves. Dip in butter and corn meal; place on well greased cookie sheet and bake as directed above.

Juvenile Court Panel Heard at Nicholas PTA Meeting

Pickaway County Juvenile Court Judge Guy Cline headed a panel of speakers during a meeting of the Nicholas Drive Parent Teacher Assn.

The topic under discussion was "Juvenile Delinquency." Mrs. Jessica Wood, juvenile officer, and Millard Dorn, probation officer, completed the panel.

The meeting was opened with a Flag Ceremony presented by Brownie Troop 657. Dr. Don Schiewetz, chairman, conducted the business session. Ben Brian introduced the speakers.

Judge Cline outlined functions of the Juvenile Court which deals with approximately 500 cases per year. He explained that the Court had jurisdiction over children under 18 years of age, neglect cases, special proceedings, adults contributing to the delinquency of minors and juvenile traffic violations. The court load has increased approximately 40 per cent during the past year, the judge said.

DELINQUENCY cases have, in the past, been well below the norm in rural areas but Pickaway County showed a 10 per cent increase (exclusive of traffic violations) last year. This is commensurate with the rest of the state, according to Cline.

School delinquents or "drop-outs" had increased last year from 43 to 64, with 34 of these for pregnancies.

Judge Cline described rehabilitation measures and the operation of work details. He appealed for help from the community to provide work for such details.

A delinquent must do 100 or more hours of free work as a means of reinstatement in the community, the judge said. As an example he cited a local artist who volunteered to help one case. This boy donated his paintings to local churches.

One great need the judge pointed out was for a suitable detention center. Presently delinquents are held in the third floor jail which is entirely unsuitable. He said he would like to see a training facility established.

"The County could then make use of State funds which are available, but unused, for rehabilitation programs," Cline said.

MRS. WOOD told of the problem of finding suitable placements for dependent and neglected children, citing specific cases. Dorn also used case histories to illustrate these difficulties.

TV Program Ends

NEW YORK (AP)—"What's My Line?" the second oldest program on television, will be dropped from the schedule of the Columbia Broadcasting System next fall, the New York Times said Tuesday.

In answer to a question from the floor, Judge Cline outlined what parents can do to help their children. He felt that 10 years was the important age when children begin to question parental authority. Discipline, acceptance of responsibility and the need to earn respect were three essentials he listed.

Even more importantly Judge Cline urged parents to spend time with their children and to give them a sense of direction. He said today's parents are softer and tend to capitulate, mainly because they want their children to have more than they did.

Mrs. Wood offered two pamphlets to interested parents. Copies are available at her office in the County Courthouse.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Gallup Poll said Richard Nixon is the favored choice of Republican voters for the GOP presidential nomination in 1968.

The Harris Survey, also published Tuesday, said: "At a time when Gov. George Romney appears to have a good chance of winning an election against President Johnson, former Vice President Richard Nixon seems to be sinking in popularity."

Asked to comment on the wide difference in the findings of the two polls, Michigan's Romney said: "I would not want to get in the middle because the results are poles apart."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has taken dead aim at cutting down the noise produced by jet aircraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Tuesday it has ordered a $10.5-million study aimed at significantly reducing jet noise.

NASA said it would negotiate contracts of about $7.5 million with the Boeing Co., Seattle, Wash., and $3 million with Douglas Aircraft Co., Santa Monica, Calif. They are the major producers of jet planes now used by domestic airlines.

NASA's Langley Research Center in Hampton, Va., is project coordinator.

Business-Industry Portion Of Heart Fund Drive Starts

Highlighting the early part of the 1966 Heart Fund Campaign here, a business and industry solicitation which started this week will continue through Saturday.

Wendell Emerine, 507 Springhollow Road, will head-up this committee as business, industry and special gifts chairman. Assisting him as district captains are John Ryan, business solicitation; Norton Barnes, industry solicitation; Richard Alkire and T. D. Van Camp, special gifts solicitation.

Heading up a Heart Fund committee is nothing new to Emerine. He had similar experience with the Pickaway County Community Fund. Emerine also is an officer in the local Elks organization and a past member of the board of directors of the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

According to the chairman approximately 70 per cent of the businesses contacted thus far during the campaign have responded with generous contributions. He also noted that if it is against the policy of a business or industry to contribute directly, they may make an indirect contribution through one of their advertising media.

IN URGING full support of the solicitation effort, Emerine said: "Although diseases of the heart and blood vessels take more lives than all other causes combined, there is growing evidence that medical science has turned the corner in its effort to safeguard the heart and life of the middle-aged business man. "During the years since 1950 we have seen a relatively sustained decline in the cardiovascular death rate for men aged 45 through 64. There was an overall decrease of 7.5 per cent, 1950-1962, due to a spectacular decline in the death rate from high blood pressure and the heart disease it causes, and an impressive reduction in the death rate from stroke.

"However, we must note that the death rate from heart attack for men in their most productive years is going up. Unless new methods of prevention and cure are found, sixty million now-living Americans will ultimately die of heart attack.

"It is really gratifying to be able to report that the people of Pickaway County have had a part in this victory. Their dollars have been among the 110 million Heart Fund dollars channeled into research since 1949 — research that is now starting to pay off."

There will be a general meeting of all volunteer workers starting 7:30 p. m. today at the First Presbyterian Church, E. Mound St. Since this will be the main organizational session of the 1967 Heart Fund Campaign, all volunteers are requested to be present, it was announced by Terry R. Sloan, publicity chairman.

NEW YORK (AP) — At the start of ABC's dignified tour of Britain "Hall of Kings" Tuesday night, Joyce Carey was quoted as saying that if a visitor had but an hour for all of London, she would send him directly to Westminster Abbey.

Anyone in America who was interested could have spent an hour in the ancient abbey under the most comfortable of circumstances, seated in his own easy chair.

The special program was a lavish guided tour. We had James Mason as chief guide, full of large and small pieces of information and ready to quote prose and poetry at every stop beside a tomb or plaque.

From time to time, Siobhan McKenna appeared, like a ghost, to speak the words — mostly mournful — of Mary, Queen of Scots, Elizabeth Barrett Browning or Charlotte Bronte. Lynn Redgrave told, in Victoria's own words, of the young queen's emotions during her coronation.

The 900-year-old abbey is indeed a fascinating place to visit, certainly the most interesting mausoleum in the world. The color cameras lingered lovingly on the sculptured forms and faces of long-dead sovereigns and on the great names that came after them.

Perhaps there was a tendency to overdo some high-flown quotations from the major and minor poets, but there was room in which to squeeze passing mention of others, who were neither kings, heroes nor men and women of the arts and sciences.

Women of the arts and sciences yet found their final resting place inside the abbey. There was Queen Anne's laundress, the first Englishman to carry an umbrella and someone identified simply as "Long Meg."

It was a pleasant, low-key program with especially effective photography.

CBS executives insist that the fate of 17-year-old "What's My Line?" has not yet been determined because the network's fall schedule is still being put together.

However, if the program should be dropped by fall in favor of a western, as reported, it would probably mean that its companion program, "Candid Camera" would be canceled too, or moved to another spot.

CBS is considering pilots for but two Westerns, and both are an hour long. One is "Cimarron Strip" about a U.S. marshal

Eagle Scout Jeffrey Wise Proud of His High Award

The highest award for a Boy Scout, the "Pro Deo et Patria" (For God and Country), is proudly owned by Eagle Scout Jeffrey Wise.

Young Wise is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wise, 351 Meadow Lane. The high recognition was awarded to him during worship services Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Richard Hartert, scoutmaster of Troop 170, pinned the medal on the Eagle Scout's uniform while his parents looked on. Pastor Carl Zehner read the requirements for the award.

A Boy Scout or Explorer of the Lutheran faith of second class or higher rank who desires to receive the Pro Deo et Patria masters a series of religious projects and completes a program of service to his Church in addition to meeting his Scouting requirements. His pastor is his closest adviser during this period.

THE requirements of the Pro Deo et Patria program involve five major aspects. They are:

Christian Faith. This includes knowledge of the Commandments, the Creed and Lord's Prayer, and the Sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper; Christian Life and Practice. Here the Scout gives evidence of daily Bible reading and prayer; regular Church, Sunday School; and youth group attendance; and knowledge of selected prayers, Bible passages and hymns.

Filing Your 1966 Tax Return

EDITOR'S NOTE — There are more ways than one for husbands and wives to fill out their annual income tax return. This article, third of five, discusses this and other matters.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — This deals with the 1966 income tax returns of three groups.

- 1. Husbands and wives.
- 2. Single persons who get a lower tax-rate if they can qualify as "head of household."
- 3. Certain widows and widowers who are permitted to use the lowest tax rate if they can qualify as "surviving spouse."

Almost always a husband and wife save by filing a joint return — which means both must sign it — whether or not the wife had income. With a joint return they, too like the "surviving spouse," get the lowest tax rate.

If a husband files separately, because his wife failed to sign jointly with him, he can claim the usual $600 exemption for himself and another $600 exemption for her — provided she has no income and is not filing separately — but the tax is usually higher than if they had filed jointly.

If you were under 65 in 1966 and file a return you get a $600 exemption for yourself — $1,200 if you were 65 or older in 1966 — and an additional $600 if you were blind.

The same rules apply to a wife if she files jointly with you, whether or not she had income; or, if she had none, fails to file jointly. A wife is not considered a dependent for income tax purposes. So the rules on wives and dependents are not the same.

If you were married or divorced as late as Dec. 31, 1966, you are considered, for income tax purposes, to have been married or divorced for all of 1966. Even though you paid more than half her support, you get no exemption for a wife divorced in 1966.

If your wife had any income in 1966, no matter how small, you can not claim an exemption for her on your return unless she files jointly with you, reporting her income.

She would have to file a return, of course, either jointly with you or separately if her income was $600 or more. If she filed separately, she would claim her own $600 exemption on her return. You, in that case, could claim only your own $600 exemption on your return and none for her.

Look where failing to file jointly can lead:

Say a wife had $50 income in 1966. Since it was less than $600 she does not have to file a return at all. But, unless she files jointly with her husband, reporting the $50, he can claim no $600 exemption for her. The couple is a loser on that one.

Married couples filing separate returns should remember: If one itemizes deductions, both must; if one uses the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must; if one uses the minimum standard deduction, both must. These standard deductions were explained in No. 2 of this series.

Head of household: The tax rate on single persons and married couples filing separately is the highest. But a single person who can qualify as "head of household" gets a lower tax by being allowed to use table B or schedule No. 3.

To qualify as head of household you must be unmarried and furnish over half of the cost of maintaining a household for the entire year for at least one relative.

Whether that relative must also qualify as your dependent or must actually live in your household depends on the relationship.

Your father or mother must qualify as your dependent and live in a home you maintain for him or her, although not necessarily in your home.

If you are paying for them in a home for the aged you can not claim you maintained a home for either of them.

Your unmarried child, grandchild or stepchild would not have to be your dependent but your household must have been the principal residence for you and that child or children in order for you to claim the tax status of head of household.

And, for you to make the claim for any other relative living in your house, that relative must qualify as your dependent.

Further, to qualify as head of household, you must have been unmarried or legally separated on the last day of 1966 although you could still qualify if, by year's end, you had married someone who was a nonresident alien some time during 1966.

If you file a return as head of household you must use form 1040.

Widows and widowers qualifying as "surviving spouse": If you can qualify, you will be allowed to use tax table B or schedule No. 2, which is what married couples filing jointly use, and thus get the lowest tax rate.

To qualify you must have been entitled to file a joint return with your husband or wife in the year of death; you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of running your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

If you meet those conditions, and your spouse died in 1964 or 1965, you can use the joint return rates reporting whatever income you had, take a $600 exemption for yourself, along with $600 for each of your dependents, but not for your deceased spouse, and use table B or schedule No. 2 in making your return.

This arrangement works two years forward.

For instance, suppose your wife died in 1964. Assume you filed a joint return that year, taking the proper exemptions, including your wife's, and getting the tax benefit that goes with a joint return.

In 1965 you could have filed a return — not joint and not claiming a $600 exemption for the husband or wife who died the year before — and still been able to use table B or schedule No. 2.

You could do the same in 1966 if your wife or husband died in 1965 or 1964. And, if he or she died in 1965, you'd be able to do the same again on your 1967 return, provided you still met the qualifications for surviving spouse.

Which means: If your wife or husband died in 1966 — the procedure in that case was given above — you'd still be able to use table B or schedule No. 2 in 1967, without making the return joint or claiming an exemption for the dead person, provided you still met the qualification for surviving spouse.

Then, after 1968, you may be able to qualify as head of household. If so, then you'll still get the tax break that goes with that classification which will be better than that for the ordinary single person but not as large as for a surviving spouse.

Anyone filing a return as a surviving spouse must use form 1040.

Next: exemption.

Wily Chou En-lai Treads Softly

TOKYO (AP) — As agile as a cat, Premier Chou En-lai picks his way cautiously through the rusted cans and broken glass of Red China's great proletarian revolution.

Today the wily Communist rubs his back against Chairman Mao Tse-tung; he emits a steady snarl in the direction of Mao's chief opponent, President Liu Shao-chi.

But occasionally he purrs. The way he jumps tomorrow may indicate who is to be the victor on the tortured mainland.

The winner could be neither Mao nor Liu but Chou himself. "Moderate" is the word used by outsiders to describe him at this stage of the bitter quarrel between Mao and Liu. In a voice as loud as anyone else's, he demands that the "counter-revolutionaries" be brought to heel. But he adds softly that the struggle against Liu and party general secretary Teng Hsiao-ping should be waged with kid gloves; words must replace blows, reason supplant ridicule. He swears undying devotion to Mao, 73, leads Maoist fanatics in singing the new Mao anthem, "The East is Red." But at another moment, he sharply warns the Maoists against excesses, tells them they mustn't parade their pro-Liu victims through the streets in dunce caps, expose them to public humiliation and kangaroo courts. Let up on old revolutionaries, he cries. Mao and Liu sit on opposing mountain peaks — one admittedly lower than the other — watching the tigers fight it out below. But Chou is up to his neck in the multifarious troubles of trying to keep a harassed nation of 750 million afloat without much help. As the Mao-Liu fight intensifies, and more of Liu's followers are subjected to the verbal rack and mental inquisition, Chou, 68, sees his trained staff of ministers breaking up. On two occasions — the latest on Feb. 1 — he has been quoted as complaining that he can't carry on if the toll continues. Only seven of his original 15 vice premiers remain, he says.

What he — and they — have to cope with would daunt any ordinary man; an economy tumbling downhill after being pushed by Liu's followers; who offer workers and peasants higher wages and greater social benefits for their allegiance, and threatened with disruption by Mao's purge and his Red Guards.

If the economic house of cards falls down, Chou realizes, Mao's struggle to regain power would be doomed. As Mao's present ally, he is struggling manfully to keep it propped up.

That is one of the explanations for his warnings to the Maoists to take it easy. Another Suave, handsome Chou — son of a mandarin — is a great opportunist.

Friends Gather To Honor Memory of Cole Porter

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some friends of Cole Porter gathered at the University of Southern California one recent evening to reminisce about the late songwriter and sing his imperishable tunes.

The result could be expressed in one of his lyrics: "Just one of those nights... Just one of those fabulous nights."

The friends were Frank Sinatra, Fred Astaire, Ethel Merman, Gene Kelly, Alan Jay Lerner and Garson Kanin. All had known Porter intimately; he had scored "High Society" for Sinatra, "The Pirate" for Kelly, "The Gay Divorcee" with "Night and Day" as its hit for Astaire, and "Panama Hattie" and four other shows for Merman.

Mrs. William Goetz, wife of the film producer and daughter of Louis B. Mayer, had invited the stars to the program for the U.S.C. Friends of the Library.

The evening began with the announcement by James O. Cole of Peru, Ind., Porter's cousin and heir, that the Porter estate was establishing a $5,000 annual fellowship in the arts at USC. Then the friends took over.

Said playwright-director-author Kanin: "Cole Porter stood for the apex of achievement in his field; there was never anyone who was better."

Lyricist Lerner added: "The thing that was unique about him was that he seemed to spring from nowhere." Other song writers had their roots in operetta or jazz, but "Cole was something special, something unaccountable and unexplainable."

Sinatra: "He made it fun to sing a song. I'll never forget my surprise at his couplets and inner rhymes."

Merman sang in her galvanic style the title tune from the first show Porter wrote for her, "Anything Goes." Also, "I Get a Kick Out of You."

Lerner recalled receiving a summons to visit Porter at New York's Harkness Pavilion, where he had undergone one of 29 operations on his legs, broken in a horseback fall.

"I arrived at five o'clock and found Cole prepared to serve martinis and hot hors d'oeuvres," said Lerner. "He had engaged an extra room in the hospital to set up a little stove so he could have hot hors d'oeuvres."

"Now that's real class!" said Sinatra admiringly.

Any Striped-Egg Layers Around?

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP)—A report of a Kentucky hen that lays green eggs with normal insides has drawn a couple of so-what responses from Missouri raisers.

Mrs. Reuben Smith of Blue Lick, Mo., near Marshall, reported Monday she has a little black hen that lays blue eggs, also leonard.

Mrs. Leonard Lewis of Independence, Mo., near Kansas City, said she has a black hen that also lays green eggs.

Wily Chou En-lai Treads Softly

TOKYO (AP) — As agile as a cat, Premier Chou En-lai picks his way cautiously through the rusted cans and broken glass of Red China's great proletarian revolution.

Today the wily Communist rubs his back against Chairman Mao Tse-tung; he emits a steady snarl in the direction of Mao's chief opponent, President Liu Shao-chi.

But occasionally he purrs.

The way he jumps tomorrow may indicate who is to be the victor on the tortured mainland.

The winner could be neither Mao nor Liu but Chou himself. "Moderate" is the word used by outsiders to describe him at this stage of the bitter quarrel between Mao and Liu. In a voice as loud as anyone else's, he demands that the "counter-revolutionaries" be brought to heel. But he adds softly that the struggle against Liu and party general secretary Teng Hsiao-ping should be waged with kid gloves; words must replace blows, reason supplant ridicule.

He swears undying devotion to Mao, 73, leads Maoist fanatics in singing the new Mao anthem, "The East is Red." But at another moment, he sharply warns the Maoists against excesses, tells them they mustn't parade their pro-Liu victims through the streets in dunce caps, expose them to public humiliation and kangaroo courts. Let up on old revolutionaries, he cries.

Mao and Liu sit on opposing mountain peaks — one admittedly lower than the other — watching the tigers fight it out.

below. But Chou is up to his neck in the multifarious troubles of trying to keep a harassed nation of 750 million afloat without much help.

As the Mao-Liu fight intensifies, and more of Liu's followers are subjected to the verbal rack and mental inquisition, Chou, 68, sees his trained staff of ministers breaking up. On two occasions — the latest on Feb. 1 — he has been quoted as complaining that he can't carry on if the toll continues. Only seven of his original 15 vice premiers remain, he says. Defiance First To Clinch Championship

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Defiance became the first Ohio college to clinch a 1966-67 basketball championship when Cedarville knocked off the Yellow jackets' lone contender, Bluffton, 93-83 Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, it was a great night for the Mid-American and Ohio Conference dormmates. Kent State, 0-9 in the MAC, whipped Buffalo 70-64 for its third triumph in 18 games, while Capital, Muskingum and Mount Union which had been 11th, 13th and 14th in the 14-team OC, all won.

Capital made it three straight in the league after losing its first six by riding over Ohio Wesleyan 71 - 55; Muskingum trounced nonconference for Ohio Northern 90-67 but slid into a tie for last place in the lop when Mount Union beat Oberlin 62-54 to match the Muskies' 2-8 OC record.

Hiram beat Western Reserve 62-57, John Carroll lost to Washington & Jefferson 83-65, Walsh lost to Clarion (Pa.) 103-91 and Rio Grande bowed to Campbellsville (Ky.) in the other games.

Cedarville's victory behind 6-foot-10 Mike Wilson's 30 points lowered Bluffton to a 4-3 Mid-Ohio slate to Defiance's 6 - 1 with one tilt left for each. Mark Froning netted 28 for the Beavers.

Larry Horner of Kent, Paul Hunt of Capital, Harry Reynolds of Muskingum and Rich Thomas of Mount Union led second half surges which carried their teams to victory.

Horner came off the bench to score 14 points in the last 11 minutes, more than any other player got the whole game, as the Golden Flashes wiped out a Buffalo lead.

Hunt garnered 15 points in the final 14 minutes when capital outscored Wesleyan 31-14 after trailing 41-40. The 6-foot senior totaled 24. Reynolds notched 34, including 24 in the second half, and Jim Battle chipped in with 24 as Muskingum won after trailing 36-34 at halftime. And Thomas pumped in 26 for the Purple Raiders.

Do NY Giants Get Choices?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A rumor that the New York Giants will get the pick of quarterbacks in this year's draft has been given a degree of substance, if not clarification.

National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Tuesday, "There is some validity to the reports."

He added, "We don't know now just what is going to happen. It's just not clarified."

Rozelle is here in conjunction with the annual meeting of the American Football League, which he will oversee as well as the NFL after the two pro loops merge in 1970.

Normally, first choice in the annual draft of college players would go to the NFL's newest club at New Orleans. The Giants, as the team with the worst record last season, would get second pick.

The whole thing will have to be worked out, Rozelle said, after the NFL meets in Honolulu next week.

AFL owners, general managers and coaches took this afternoon off to play golf. Milt Woodard, league president rehired for three years, said it was "the first time in the seven-year history of the league that we've been able to take a break for golf."

The AFL executives are trying to bring their players' pension plan in line with that of the NFL. No interleague trading is expected to take place until these plans are synchronized.

The future site of the Super Bowl championship game between the two leagues will be taken up next spring, said Rozelle.

Vikings Close Season with 70-41 Victory

Teays Valley ended the season on a winning note Tuesday, handing visiting Franklin Heights, a 70-41 loss.

The Vikings were never threatened in the tilt, parlaying an 18-6 first quarter lead into a 37-13 halftime margin. When the final quarter began, the Vikings were on top, 51-30.

A balanced scoring effort by the Vikings saw four cagers hitting the double figure column led by Jim Estep's 22 points.

ESTEP connected on nine field goals and four charity tosses for his total. Mike Stone notched 15 points with seven fielders and one foul shot. Rod Teets, who led both teams in rebounding with 14, scored four field goals and four foul shots for 12 points.

Ron Leatherwood hit two field goals and converted seven times at the foul line for 11 points. Vic Love, the other Viking starter, hit two field goals and two foul shots for six.

From the field, the Vikings connected on 25 of 50 shots for a 50 per cent average. At the foul line, they hit 20 of 25, and 80 per cent average.

The Vikings had 14 turnovers, and hauled 54 rebounds off the boards.

The leading scorer for Franklin Heights was Griffith with 21 markers.

The Vikings closed the season with an 11-7 record.

MONDAY, Teays Valley will play sixth seeded Eastmoor in the Class AA District tournament at Cooper Arena, Ohio State Fairgrounds, Columbus. Eastmoor had a 12-4 record for the season.

Tucson Open Starts Today

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — With golf's 1967 leading money winner Arnold Palmer heading the pack, 170 golfers open the $60,000 Tucson Open Wednesday with a pro-am round.

Palmer was teamed with former Sen. Barry Goldwater, football star Jon Arnett of the Chicago Bears and Tucson amateur Fred Boice for the preliminary to the 72-hole event Thursday. With $26,632 in his pocket, Palmer leads this year's money markers on the golf circuit.

After a victory in the Los Angeles Open, Palmer skipped last week's Phoenix Open.

A gusty wind swept the Tucson National Golf Club Tuesday as many of the 36 pros signed up for the tourney took practice swings.

Bob Kelvin, host club pro, said the winning score for the tourney "won't be under 280 if we get two days of windy weather." Defending champion Joe Campbell, the cigar-chomping swinger from Tansi, Tenn., was in the pro-am field. He will also be trying for a repeat of his 1966 success and the first prize money of $9,000.

Palmer, however, is considered the man to beat.

Four of last year's top 10 official money winners are entered in the tourney. They are Palmer, who finished No. 3; R. H. Sikes, 8; Frank Beard, 9, and Al Geiberger, 10.

Austin Denney, star end for Tennessee last season, was drafted after his junior year by the Dallas Cowboys and New York Jets.

Tennessee's Ron Widby Tops in SEC

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee basketball captain Ron Widby is one of those super athletes all coaches yearn for but seldom have on their roster.

Widby, says Coach Ray Mears, is the chief reason why Tennessee is leading the Southeastern Conference basketball championship race with an 11-2 record.

Although basketball is Widby's major assignment, he has won three letters in football and others in baseball and golf. He was the nation's leading punter in college football last fall.

How good is the 6-foot-5 Widby?

"Widby is the best basketball player in the Southeastern Conference," says Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, a wily judge of cage talent. "He does so many things well."

"Ron Widby is an All-America if I know what one looks like," says Mears. "He has everything it takes... great shooting ability, defense, rebounding skill at both ends of the floor, poise, leadership, determination and a fine attitude."

Most other SEC coaches agree with Mears and Rupp.

Widby has scored 423 points this season for a 21.2 average and has set a three-year Tennessee scoring record with 1,236 points. He has a 49.2 shooting percentage from the floor, 83.3 per cent at the foul line and has gathered in 172 rebounds in 20 games.

Football, basketball and baseball scouts are all waiting for Widby to complete his collegiate career so they can make him offers.

"I believe I would prefer football," Ron says. "I think I can make it with the pros as a kicker."

His average last fall was 43.8 yards a kick.

K of C Slates Ping Pong Finals

The finals of the Knights of Columbus ping pong tournament will be held Monday at the local council room.

The class C championship will begin at 7 p. m. with Tom Shea playing Roger McConnell. The class B finals will be played at 7:30 p. m. with Jerry Bender and Jim McConnell meeting. Following the regular business meeting, Dallas Elliott and Ed Frericks will battle for the class A trophy.

All members are invited to attend the tourney session.

NCAA-AAU Feud Spreads To Serious Dimensions

NEW YORK (AP) — Theodore Kheel, who made his reputation during some of the thorniest labor-management disputes of the past few years, says he has never seen anything to match the war over amateur track and field that has suddenly flared up again.

"This is the toughest situation I've ever been involved in," said Kheel, head of a panel appointed by Vice President Hubert Humphrey to mediate the dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Kheel first came to prominence as a mediator during the New York newspaper strike in 1962-63 that dragged on for 114 days and later was involved in the celebrated subway and bus strike here a year ago.

"These fellows," Kheel said Tuesday talking of the parties to the NCAA-AAU battle, "make the Teamsters look like undernourished doves."

Kheel asked the AAU not to ban foreign and noncollegiate athletes who participated in a meet here last Friday that was run by the U.S. Track and Field

Federation, a creation of the NCAA.

Col. Donald Hull, executive director of the AAU, replied the matter was out of his group's hands and rested with the foreign governing bodies involved. "The athletes are primarily in trouble with their own governing bodies," he said. "There is nothing we can do here until we hear from them."

Asked if he thought the athletes might be able to compete in meets this weekend, Hull replied, "Impossible as I see it."

In a similar situation last summer, the AAU lifted suspensions at Kheel's request. The AAU insists foreign and noncollegiate athletes may only run in meets it sanctions. The NCAA says anything goes until Kheel's panel makes a final decision.

"I wish to make clear," Kheel said Tuesday, "we will render a final decision which will dispose of this dispute once and for all. This can't be this week or the next."

Other developments Friday were the following:

—Villanova Coach Jim Elliott denied he had threatened Irish runners Frank Murphy and Ian Hamilton with the loss of their scholarships if they didn't compete in the Federation meet. Murphy and Hamilton, who are among the athletes banned from future competition by the AAU, said Elliott had made the threat two hours before the meet.

—New York University threatened to pull its entire team from the New York A.C. meet here this Friday if three relay runners from the Barbadoes, banned by the AAU, are kept out of the meet.

—Jim Johnson, a graduate student at William and Mary, banned for running the mile in the Federation meet, blasted the AAU, saying "I've yet to be notified I've been suspended. There is no reason an athlete should be treated this way."

Also suspended is Chris Papanicolaou, Greek pole vaulter at San Jose State, who was kept out of the Los Angeles Times Games last Saturday and apparently will miss the Mason-Dixon Games in Louisville this Saturday.

Others banned are Sebsibe Mamo, from Ethiopia and Colby College, Benedict Cayenne and Carver King of Maryland State and Trinidad, and Canada's John Reynolds and Jamaica's Alex McDonald of the University of Michigan.

Bruins Top Red Wings

BOSTON (AP) — Sid Abel, general manager and coach of the Detroit Red Wings, likes Boston as a town, but he wishes he could limit visits to the National Hockey League's off season.

"This was a typical game for us in Boston—we were terrible," Abel said after the Red Wings dropped a 6-3 decision to the last-place Bruins Tuesday night at Boston Garden.

"It seems we come in here and can't do anything right," Abel said. "The Bruins really score on us in Boston. Of course, you don't win when you don't put something into the game — and we didn't tonight."

"We've been playing well — even in a 3-2 loss to Chicago Sunday afternoon — but this was a different story. Only a couple of players did their job."

The Wings, battling for the fourth and final playoff spot, had won five straight until the Chicago defeat. It was only their second loss in 10 games since Jan. 19, a stretch in which they outscored opponents 48-26.

The lowly Bruins outstuffed Detroit most of the way, with Ron Murphy scoring two goals and setting up a third, and rookies Skip Drake and Bill Gadsdorthy contributing a goal each.

The victory was only the second in the last nine starts for the Bruins, whose game with the Red Wings was the only one on the schedule Tuesday night.

Tennessee's Ron Widby Tops in SEC

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee basketball captain Ron Widby is one of those super athletes all coaches yearn for but seldom have on their roster.

Widby, says Coach Ray Mears, is the chief reason why Tennessee is leading the Southeastern Conference basketball championship race with an 11-2 record.

Although basketball is Widby's major assignment, he has won three letters in football and others in baseball and golf. He was the nation's leading punter in college football last fall.

How good is the 6-foot-5 Widby?

"Widby is the best basketball player in the Southeastern Conference," says Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, a wily judge of cage talent. "He does so many things well."

"Ron Widby is an All-America if I know what one looks like," says Mears. "He has everything it takes . . . great shooting ability, defense, rebounding skill at both ends of the floor, poise, leadership, determination and a fine attitude."

Most other SEC coaches agree with Mears and Rupp.

Widby has scored 423 points this season for a 21.2 average and has set a three-year Tennessee scoring record with 1,236 points. He has a 49.2 shooting percentage from the floor, 83.3 per cent at the foul line and has gathered in 172 rebounds in 20 games.

Football, basketball and baseball scouts are all waiting for Widby to complete his collegiate career so they can make him offers.

"I believe I would prefer football," Ron says. "I think I can make it with the pros as a kicker."

His average last fall was 43.8 yards a kick.

NCAA-AAU Feud Spreads To Serious Dimensions

NEW YORK (AP) — Theodore Kheel, who made his reputation during some of the thorniest labor-management disputes of the past few years, says he has never seen anything to match the war over amateur track and field that has suddenly flared up again.

"This is the toughest situation I've ever been involved in," said Kheel, head of a panel appointed by Vice President Hubert Humphrey to mediate the dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Kheel first came to prominence as a mediator during the New York newspaper strike in 1962-63 that dragged on for 114 days and later was involved in the celebrated subway and bus strike here a year ago.

"These fellows," Kheel said Tuesday talking of the parties to the NCAA-AAU battle, "make the Teamsters look like undernourished doves."

Kheel asked the AAU not to ban foreign and noncollegiate athletes who participated in a meet here last Friday that was run by the U.S. Track and Field

Federation, a creation of the NCAA.

Col. Donald Hull, executive director of the AAU, replied the matter was out of his group's hands and rested with the foreign governing bodies involved.

"The athletes are primarily in trouble with their own governing bodies," he said. "There is nothing we can do here until we hear from them."

Asked if he thought the athletes might be able to compete in meets this weekend, Hull replied, "Impossible as I see it."

In a similar situation last summer, the AAU lifted suspensions at Kheel's request. The AAU insists foreign and noncollegiate athletes may only run in meets it sanctions. The NCAA says anything goes until Kheel's panel makes a final decision.

"I wish to make clear," Kheel said Tuesday, "we will render a final decision which will dispose of this dispute once and for all. This can't be this week or the next."

Other developments Friday were the following:

—Villanova Coach Jim Elliott denied he had threatened Irish runner Frank Murphy and Ian Hamilton with the loss of their scholarships if they didn't compete in the Federation meet. Murphy and Hamilton, who are among the athletes banned from future competition by the AAU, said Elliott had made the threat two hours before the meet.

—New York University threatened to pull its entire team from the New York A.C. meet here this Friday if three relay runners from the Barbadoes, banned by the AAU, are kept out of the meet.

—Jim Johnson, a graduate student at William and Mary, banned for running the mile in the Federation meet, blasted the AAU, saying "I've yet to be notified I've been suspended. There is no reason an athlete should be treated this way."

Also suspended is Chris Papanicolaou, Greek pole vaulter at San Jose State, who was kept out of the Los Angeles Times Games last Saturday and apparently will miss the Mason-Dixon Games in Louisville this Saturday.

Others banned are Sebsibe Mammo, from Ethiopia and Colby College, Benedict Cayenne and Carver King of Maryland State and Trinidad, and Canada's John Reynolds and Jamaica's Alex McDonald of the University of Michigan.

Big Ten Cagers May Tie 4 Ways

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the first time in 41 years the Big Ten college basketball race may end in a four-way tie.

The Big Ten has taken a back seat this season to such teams as UCLA, Louisville, North Carolina, Princeton, Western Kentucky, Kansas and Vanderbilt.

Thus the eye-scratching contest between Indiana; Northwestern, Iowa and Purdue; and Michigan State to succeed Michigan as Big Ten champion has gone virtually unnoticed nationally.

Iowa whipped Northwestern 80-75 at Iowa City Tuesday night and created the jam at the top in the Big Ten. Iowa, Northwestern, Indiana and Michigan State each are 5-2 at the half-way mark in conference play which ends March 11.

It's possible that the teams still will be tied then for the first such finish in the Big Ten since 1926. That year Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Purdue deadlocked at 8-4.

North Carolina, fourth-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll and the only team in the AP Top Ten to see action, rebounded from its upset at the hands of Georgia Tech to whip North Carolina State 77-60 at Raleigh.

Clemson beat Duke 73-68 for the Tigers' first victory over the Blue Devils in five years. In another surprise, Texas Tech downed Southern Methodist 82-74.

Kansas State defeated Missouri 82-67, Providence humbled St. Joseph's of Philadelphia 87-74 and Boston College tumbled Rhode Island 81-71 in other games.

Bob Lewis threw in 36 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead North Carolina as the Tar Heels won their ninth straight in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The N.C. State Wolfpack took an early lead, but a 13-1 spree by the Tar Heels broke the game open. Jerry Moore led the Wolfpack with 21 points.

Both Providence and BC fell out of the AP Top Ten by losing last week.

Jim Valvano's 27 points led Rutgers to an 83-49 victory over Navy at Annapolis. In other road victories, Texas beat Rice 81-76, Texas Christian downed Baylor 99-91 and Memphis State defeated New Orleans Loyola 52-46.

Wisconsin overcame Minnesota 85-75, West Virginia routed Penn State 83-67 and Texas A&M beat Arkansas 60-53 in home court victories.

William and Mary took over second place in the Southern Conference by downing Davidson 74-71 at Charlotte behind 25 points by Ron Panneton, including four free throws in the last minute of play.

Little Lord Rinka Makes Kenyon Basketball Soar

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP)—Inch for inch, Kenyon College freshman John Rinka may be one of the highest scoring basketball players in the country.

He's a 5-foot-9 runt in a line-up that stretches up to a 7-foot center. But he's probably the biggest reason basketball is enjoying unprecedented popularity at Kenyon.

Rinka's 24-point average ranks him second in the Ohio Conference, behind only Don Carlos, Otterbein's 6-4 Little All-American center.

With Rinka setting the pace, Kenyon plays a fast-break style of ball, averaging a league-leading 84 points a game and heading toward possibly its best season under Coach Bob Harrison, now in his ninth season with the Lords.

There's no doubt that Kenyon's students are basketball crazy. They're coming to the games.

Harrison, former University of Michigan and pro basketball star (with Minneapolis, St. Louis and Syracuse) says: "Most years I haven't even been able to give tickets away. This year we're getting full houses."

Rinka was an all-state player in Wisconsin at Milwaukee's Shorewood High School. Getting an all-state player was almost as much a shock as a pleasure for Harrison, whose recruiting efforts are virtually restricted to letter-writing.

"Before I even bothered writing Rinka, I called Marquette's coach (Al McGuire) because I heard he was interested in him," Harrison says.

But Marquette and several other major basketball schools considered Rinka too small. So he wound up at Kenyon, a small liberal arts college with a high academic reputation and a habit of finishing near the bottom in Ohio Conference basketball standings.

Rinka's speed and ability to jump higher than many taller players more than make up for his lack of size, says his coach.

"He has some defensive problems, but I'm sure he'll develop into a great defensive player too. In high school he was told to take it easy on defense because they couldn't afford to have him foul out," Harrison adds.

Harrison says his 18-year-old scoring star is also one of the most confident college players he's ever seen. The solidly built little Lord is the sparkplug of a young team that stands 11-5 over-all and 7-3 in the conference.

Rinka's backcourt partner is last year's freshman sensation of the conference, John Dunlop of Coshocton. He averaged 24 points a game last season but is down to 18 this year, partly because of injuries but also because the Lords have a more balanced attack now.

Seven-foot sophomore Larry Finstrom of Aurora, Ill., alternates at center with 6-3 Kit Marty, a soph from Amherst. The forwards are juniors Dick Fox, Shaker Heights, and Terry Parmelee, Solon.

The only senior on the team is captain Gene Harley of Hempstead, N. Y. Because of the talented underclassmen, the captain's main chore is "to go out and shake hands with the officials before the game," according to Harrison.

The coach, who's had only two previous winning seasons at Kenyon, says, "In the past we had to play a lot of control basketball. With the talent we had, that was the only way we could hope to stay in the game."

"But I like a running game, and I'd be crazy to make this team play control ball. Besides, I don't think the fans would put up with it."

The commissioners said they just couldn't adopt the county grand jury's recommendation to scrap the cuspidors, which County Court Judge Max Smith said are in demand from antique collectors.

For a supersensitive agency the CIA has been surfacing a lot of late.

Last spring the CIA was accused of infiltrating a Michigan State University police training program in Vietnam. University officials denied knowing about it but ended the contract because of the suspicion aroused.

In Baltimore last December, a federal court dismissed a slander suit against a CIA agent, declaring he could not be forced to testify because it might compromise national security. The claimant said his standing in an Estonian veterans organization had been damaged by a CIA man who allegedly called him an agent of the Soviet secret police.

What brought the CIA's link to the National Student Association to the surface Tuesday was newspaper advertisements by Ramparts magazine calling attention to a story on the relationship in its March issue.

Spokesmen for NSA and the State Department later confirmed the secret pact. Allen W. Dulles, who headed the CIA when the link was forged, said it was a response to widespread Communist influence in student organizations abroad during the early 1950s.

The CIA funds apparently supported official representation of the NSA at student conferences held throughout the world. A NSA spokesman said it hires U.S. students, usually going to school overseas, as its representatives.

The eight House Democrats aimed their protest of the arrangement at President Johnson. They declared in a letter that the CIA had "compromised and corrupted the largest student organization in the largest democracy in the world."

"What conditions were laid down for the subsidy?" they asked. "Have officials of the NSA been granted special treatment, including draft deferments? Are there any other student organizations with similar relations with the CIA?"

There were no answers to the questions from the White House, the CIA or the NSA. The National Supervisory Board of the student organization was summoned hastily to Washington to decide what to do.

In an earlier statement NSA President Eugene Groves expressed fear the subrosa relationship may have ended the usefulness of the organization.

Only a few top officers of the organization ever knew about the arrangement, NSA spokesmen said, and the reaction at the organization's headquarters Tuesday was one of dismay and embarrassment.

"You wake up in the morning and you're a secret agent," declared one of the student officials.

The funds from the CIA reportedly were channeled to NSA through several foundations which supported the student organization.

The shock and dismay were not all on the side of the students. Rep. Donald E. Luken, R-Ohio, said he found it "shocking and scandalous" that the CIA would help an organization like the NSA.

"Consider the official positions taken by the NSA," he said, "positions which, in some cases, proved of direct benefit to international communism. When you do, the CIA's program of financing becomes one which should be aired fully. It is a prime example of a supersensitive government agency working against itself."

The eight Democrats signing the letter to Johnson were Reps. George E. Brown Jr., Calif.; Phillip Burton, Calif.; John Conyers Jr., Mich.; John G. Dow, N.Y.; Don Edwards, Calif.; Robert W. Kastenmeier, Wis.; William S. Rosenthal, N.Y., and William F. Ryan, N.Y.

Government Takes Glance At Guaranteed Income Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — A few years ago, the idea of the government guaranteeing to everyone an income sufficient to keep him from the clutches of poverty usually was dismissed as pie in the sky fantasy of far-out social dreamers.

But now the White House has stamped the idea as a social philosophy deserving the attention of a full-fledged presidential commission. And a budding national debate on the issue could lap over into future political campaigns.

In his economic report to Congress last month, President Johnson took note of the varied proposals for guaranteeing minimum incomes.

"I intend to establish a commission of leading Americans to examine the many proposals, reporting in two years to me and the American people," he said.

Details of the plans vary, but the idea behind each is to guarantee, through government payments, a minimum annual income to families and individuals.

Johnson has said such schemes "almost surely are beyond our means at this time."

But some economists disagree. They contend a guarantee income plan could replace many present welfare and public assistance programs and do the job at less cost to the taxpayers.

Another facet of the issue is automating unions are becoming more concerned about the rate jobs are being gobbled up by machines and electronic devices. Union leaders have turned to guaranteed income maintenance as one possible way to aid workers affected by automation.

One champion of a guaranteed income is Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, who was economic adviser to Rep. Sen. Barry Goldwater in the 1964 presidential campaign.

Friedman estimated the cost of existing state, federal and local welfare programs at about $50 billion a year, excluding veterans' payments and educational expenditures.

His plan, he said, would give more aid to those who need it most, and would cost less than the present "rag bag of welfare schemes."

Friedman says one level of payments he proposed would have cost $7 billion to $9 billion in 1964 but would have eliminated public assistance payments of $5.1 billion. A modest reduction in other welfare programs, he said, would have meant his income guarantee proposal would have cost no more than welfare but would have done a better job.

Friedman's plan, and others like it, are based on what's called a negative income tax.

Under current income tax brackets, Friedman says, a family of four has exemptions and deductions equal to $3,000. He calls this the "break even" point.

If a family had $4,000 income it would pay taxes on $1,000 of it—that portion above the $3,000 break-even point.

But if a family had $2,000 income it would pay no tax. It would have a "negative income" of $1,000 and be entitled to a government payment.

Friedman proposed a negative tax rate of 50 per cent. Thus the family with $2,000 income would receive 50 per cent of its $1,000 deficit. This would mean a government payment of $500, giving the family a total income of $2,500.

Another idea is to place the whole program under a setup similar to Social Security with employees, employers and the government paying the cost. In essence this would create a fund to pay a minimum living standard income to all those unable to work or unable to earn enough to live on.

These proposals have encountered opposition.

Commerce describes arguments for a guaranteed income as "banal and flatulent rhetoric," and a "welfare dole." It recommended instead "education, training, rehabilitation, changes in social attitudes and institutions and other similar approaches" to aiding the poor.

For those unable to aid themselves, the report advocated "relief programs to guarantee them adequate living standards."

The presidential Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress reported about a year ago that it feels strongly a better integrated system and more comprehensive programs of social insurance and income maintenance are both feasible and necessary "at this stage in our history."

It suggested Congress give serious study to a minimum income allowance or negative income tax. It said a "Minimum income allowance would complete the symmetry of our tax system."

School Purchase Bid Is Rejected

A bid submitted for purchase of the now-closed Walnut St. School was turned down Tuesday night by the Circleville Board of Education.

The building, previously closed under provisions of a new operational program, was offered for sale earlier this year. The bid rejected last night was listed at $4,000.

A motion to resubmit the property for auction was approved by board members. The sale will be held Mar. 31, starting at 1 p. m., on the County Court-house steps. C. G. Chalfin was nominated as auctioneer.

A "Family Life Education Program" was discussed during the early stages of last night's meeting. Mrs. Ted Foster was nominated as chairman of the lay personnel who will work with administration and teachers on the project.

THE recommendation that a committee of administrators, teachers and lay personnel be formed to meet jointly and discuss needs and possible programs for Family Life Education in the school system was proposed and accepted.

The third item on the agenda was the question of students driving to school.

It was recommended that the policy regarding the driving of automobiles to school be applied to junior high as well as senior high students.

Board members agreed that significant reasons must be presented to the Junior High School principal in order for a student to be considered eligible to drive.

A discussion of the minimum wage law was short in duration. The new law stipulates that Feb. 1, 1967, minimum wage for employees covered by the amendments is established at net less than $1 per hour for the period until Jan. 31, 1968.

No employees in the school system are paid under the minimum figure, it was pointed out. An advanced draw of $50,000 was requested and approved. The money will be used to pay bills falling due within the school system.

For a supersecret agency the CIA has been surfacing a lot of late.

Last spring the CIA was accused of infiltrating a Michigan State University police training program in Vietnam. University officials denied knowing about it but ended the contract because of the suspicion aroused.

In Baltimore last December, a federal court dismissed a slander suit against a CIA agent, declaring he could not be forced to testify because it might compromise national security. The claimant said his standing in an Estonian veterans organization had been damaged by a CIA man who allegedly called him an agent of the Soviet secret police.

What brought the CIA's link to the National Student Association to the surface Tuesday were newspaper advertisements by Ramparts magazine calling attention to a story on the relationship in its March issue.

Spokesmen for NSA and the State Department later confirmed the secret pact. Allen W. Dulles, who headed the CIA when the link was forged, said it was a response to widespread Communist influence in student organizations abroad during the early 1950s.

The CIA funds apparently supported official representation of the NSA at student conferences held throughout the world. A NSA spokesman said it hires U.S. students, usually going to school overseas, as its representatives.

The eight House Democrats aimed their protest of the arrangement at President Johnson. They declared in a letter that the CIA had "compromised and corrupted the largest student organization in the largest democracy in the world."

"What conditions were laid down for the subsidy?" they asked. "Have officials of the NSA been granted special treatment, including draft deferments? Are there any other student organizations with similar relations with the CIA?"

There were no answers to the questions from the White House, the CIA or the NSA. The National Supervisory Board of the student organization was summoned hastily to Washington to decide what to do.

In an earlier statement NSA President Eugene Groves expressed fear the subrosa relationship may have ended the usefulness of the organization.

Only a few top officers of the organization ever knew about the arrangement, NSA spokesmen said, and the reaction at the organization's headquarters Tuesday was one of dismay and embarrassment.

"You wake up in the morning and you're a secret agent," declared one of the student officials.

The funds from the CIA reportedly were channeled to NSA through several foundations which supported the student organization.

The shock and dismay were not all on the side of the students. Rep. Donald E. Lukens, R-Ohio, said he found it "shocking and scandalous" that the CIA would help an organization like the NSA.

"Consider the official positions taken by the NSA," he said, "positions which, in some cases, proved of direct benefit to international communism. When you do, the CIA's program of financing becomes one which should be aired fully. It is a prime example of a supersecret government agency working against itself."

The eight Democrats signing the letter to Johnson were Reps. George E. Brown Jr., Calif.; Phillip Burton, Calif.; John Conyers Jr., Mich.; John G. Dow, N.Y.; Don Edwards, Calif.; Robert W. Kastenmeier, Wis.; William S. Rosenthal, N.Y.; and William F. Ryan, N.Y.

Government Takes Glance At Guaranteed Income Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) —A few years ago, the idea of the government guaranteeing to everyone an income sufficient to keep him from the clutches of poverty usually was dismissed as pie in the sky fantasy of far-out social dreamers.

But now the White House has stamped the idea as a social philosophy deserving the attention of a full-fledged presidential commission. And a budding national debate on the issue could lap over into future political campaigns.

In his economic report to Congress last month, President Johnson took note of the varied proposals for guaranteeing minimum incomes.

"I intend to establish a commission of leading Americans to examine the many proposals, reporting in two years to me and the American people," he said.

Details of the plans vary, but the idea behind each is to guarantee, through government payments, a minimum annual income to families and individuals.

Johnson has said such schemes "almost surely are beyond our means at this time." But some economists disagree. They contend a guarantee income plan could replace many present welfare and public assistance programs and do the job at less cost to the taxpayers.

Another facet of the issue is automating unions are becoming more concerned about the rate jobs are being gobbled up by machines and electronic devices. Union leaders have turned to guaranteed income maintenance as one possible way to aid workers affected by automation.

One champion of a guaranteed income is Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, who was economic adviser to Rep. Sen. Barry Goldwater in the 1964 presidential campaign.

Friedman estimated the cost of existing state, federal and local welfare programs at about $50 billion a year, excluding veterans' payments and educational expenditures.

His plan, he said, would give more aid to those who need it most, and would cost less than the present "rag bag of welfare schemes."

Friedman says one level of payments he proposed would have cost $7 billion to $9 billion in 1964 but would have eliminated public assistance payments of $5.1 billion. A modest reduction in other welfare programs, he said, would have meant his income guarantee proposal would have cost no more than welfare but would have done a better job.

Friedman's plan, and others like it, are based on what's called a negative income tax. Under current income tax brackets, Friedman says, a family of four has exemptions and deductions equal to $3,000. He calls this the "break even" point.

If a family had $4,000 income it would pay taxes on $1,000 of it—that portion above the $3,000 break-even point.

But if a family had $2,000 income it would pay no tax. It would have a "negative income" of $1,000 and be entitled to a government payment.

Friedman proposed a negative tax rate of 50 per cent. Thus the family with $2,000 income would receive 50 per cent of its $1,000 deficit. This would mean a government payment of $500, giving the family a total income of $2,500.

Another idea is to place the whole program under a setup similar to Social Security with employees, employers and the government paying the cost. In essence this would create a fund to pay a minimum living standard income to all those unable to work or unable to earn enough to live on.

These proposals have encountered opposition. Dr. Carl Madden, chief economist for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce describes arguments for a guaranteed income as "banal and flatulent rhetoric," and a "welfare dole." It recommended instead "education, training, rehabilitation, changes in social attitudes and institutions and other similar approaches" to aiding the poor.

For those unable to aid themselves, the report advocated "relief programs to guarantee them adequate living standards."

The presidential Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress reported about a year ago that it feels strongly a better integrated system and more comprehensive programs of social insurance and income maintenance are both feasible and necessary "at this stage in our history."

It suggested Congress give serious study to a minimum income allowance or negative income tax. It said a "Minimum income allowance would complete the symmetry of our tax system."

School Purchase Bid Is Rejected

A bid submitted for purchase of the now-closed Walnut St. School was turned down Tuesday night by the Circleville Board of Education.

The building, previously closed under provisions of a new operational program, was offered for sale earlier this year. The bid rejected last night was listed at $4,000.

A motion to resubmit the property for auction was approved by board members. The sale will be held Mar. 31, starting at 1 p. m., on the County Court-house steps. C. G. Chalfin was nominated as auctioneer.
